How to Get a PhD: a Handbook for Students and Their Supervisors 7e - Estelle Phillips 2022-08-18

“A fresh update to a true classic. This is one of the most reassuring and useful books you will ever read about doing your PhD, no matter your topic - or where you are enrolled.”

Professor Inger Mewburn, Director of Researcher Development, Office of the Dean of Higher Degree by Research, The Australian National University, Canberra, Australia “How to get a PhD is both honest and thorough and thus immensely helpful, for supervisors as much as for students.” Professor Paul Allain, Dean of the Graduate and Researcher College, University of Kent, UK “The 7th edition! ‘How to get a PhD’ is proving its status as a must read for PhDs and supervisors.” Dr Hans Sonneveld, Founder and Board member, Netherlands Centre of Expertise for Doctoral Education How to Get a PhD 7e provides a practical and realistic approach for all students who are embarking on a PhD. In addition, supervisors will find invaluable tips on their role in the process, good supervisory practices and how to support students to work effectively. Thoroughly revised and updated throughout, the seventh edition provides an overview of what it means to undertake a PhD within a modern university, exploring both the challenges and rewards of a doctoral degree, including: • Contemporary challenges for students including transgender issues, sexual harassment, and exploitation within the academic environment • Time demands, the balance of academia and paid work, and the uncertainty of academic careers and how this can impact students' mental health • Academic debates surrounding the increased importance of technology and open access • Emphasising diversity with an increased focus on how students, supervisors and universities can work together to make a more effective and welcoming academic environment The new edition is structured so that users can find the section that will help the specific stage of their work. With practical guidance through the application process, research, viva and post-viva, this book supports PhD students of all disciplines across their journey and beyond, including part-time, those returning to study and those who are practice-based. Estelle M. Phillips has enjoyed a long career as an academic and independent educational consultant. She has published widely on various aspects of the PhD and has spoken at universities on four continents about the skills required to complete and supervise a PhD. Colin G. Johnson is an associate professor at the University of Nottingham, and was formerly Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in the sciences at the University of Kent. He is an experienced PhD supervisor and examiner, and has led training courses for new PhD students and advised on postgraduate strategy for a number of universities. Professor Derek S Pugh (1930-2015) was Emeritus Professor of International Management of the Open University Business School, UK. He published 17 books and over 100 papers in his field and had considerable experience in the design of doctoral programmes and the successful supervision and examination of PhD students.

Lessons - R. Lebeaux

Like many adolescent boys, Phillip Arthur Davidson was a fumbling sexual wannabe with little knowledge of female anatomy, needs or desires. Frustrated, he remained a virgin until one day, in his late teens, he was seduced by Marie, a woman eight years his senior whose studies of sexual mechanics would eventually lead to an award-winning doctoral thesis. Thus began a series of tutoring sessions that would prepare Phillip for a reunion with Caroline, the childhood friend he had longed to deflower since the day she entered puberty. LESSONS tells the extraordinary story of these three characters, as they fight their way through the emotional upheaval of adolescent sexual trauma, promiscuity, and unrequited love, only to end up in a confusing web of intertwined relationships. Faced with the most terrifying decision of his life, Phillip must choose between his childhood sweetheart and the woman whose clinical expertise in the art of lovemaking captured his heart many years before. "A dramatic, sometimes shocking treatise on sexuality, love, and infidelity, with intense and intimately depicted scenes from the bedroom that could easily serve as a how-to manual for lovers both young and old. LESSONS is an astonishingly sensual coming-of-age story, with troubled but brilliantly drawn characters, whose lives intertwine in a surprising labyrinth of emotional turmoil." Teacher and Pupil - Philip Gammage 2017-04-28

This title, first published in 1971, provides a guide to the social psychology of learning. The author examines the school class as a group and considers the formation of some of the attitudes of the children and the teacher as they relate to education. Building upon interaction as a major theme, the study focuses attention on the ways in which relationships can affect the classroom climate. The background to group dynamics leads to the elements of sociometry and to consideration of teaching styles, communication structure and perceptions of the teacher's role. This title will be of interest to students of sociology and education.

Multicultural Education in a Pluralistic Society +

Myeducationlab + Teaching Strategies for Ethnic

Studies - Gollnick 2008-04-29

This respected text for courses in Multicultural or Multiethnic Education provides students the tools necessary to teach effectively in today's diverse classrooms. "Pluralistic" is defined as having multiple aspects or parts. The classroom of today has students from multiple backgrounds, cultures, and races. Within those differing groups students have their own individual differences. Their home situations may be very different. They may be from a different social class. Each teacher also comes to the classroom with their own cultural background and past experiences that will effect how they will handle different situations. The goal of this book is to help students to apply what they have learned and in turn to prepare their students to live in our heterogeneous culture. Eight micro-cultures that teachers may encounter in the classroom are examined in detail: They are: - Ethnicity and race- Class and socioeconomic status- Gender and sexual orientation- Exceptionality- Language- Religion- Geography- Age Some of the features of the book are the "ABC News Video Insights" boxes that explore current issues in multicultural education today, "Focus Your Cultural Lens Debates" that ask the reader to take a position on controversial school issues with for and against statements to consider, and the "Pause to Reflect" feature which lists questions and activities to promote self-awareness and ownership of past experiences and how they may affect a teacher in the classroom. The "Critical Incidents" feature gives both real and hypothetical situations that occur in schools and encourage the reader to examine their feelings about them.

Human Diversity in Education - Kenneth Cushner 2003

Human Diversity in Education: An Integrative Approach is a research-based, comprehensive text designed to provide an introduction to multicultural education and diversity in society. The text prepares future teachers for the wide diversity of students that they are certain to meet in their classrooms, schools, and communities. It provides an updated and broad treatment of the various forms of human diversity found in today's schools including nationality, ethnicity, race, religion, gender, class, language, sexual orientation, and ability levels. The text maintains a unique approach - a research-based cross-cultural psychological emphasis on how people learn about culture. The text is based on the assumption that it is at the level of the individual teacher where the change that must occur with regard to diversity in schools begins. It assumes that teachers must learn to incorporate issues of diversity in all of their teaching, including, but not limited to their interactions with children, parents, other teachers and the community. In the fourth edition new Case Studies are used to introduce major concepts at the start of chapters and Critical Incidents refer back to the Case Studies throughout the chapter. New coverage includes an emphasis on globalization and a new chapter on intercultural development. Important topics covered include: intercultural development of individuals, globalization and international education, religion in society and schools, gender and sexuality, exceptionality, and diversity with respect to early childhood.

Rethinking the Youth

Question - Phil Cohen
2016-02-06

Bringing together material written over the past two decades, this book traces a history of political and intellectual debates around central issues of education, labour and the youth question. An argument is made for linking the cultural, structural and autobiographical dimensions of the youth question in order to engage educationally with the burden of representation which young people are made to carry via race, class and sexuality in the postmodern world. The book includes three major unpublished pieces and an introduction which discusses the nature of the collection, and sets it in both a personal and political context.

Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle - 1853

Theatre, Teens, Sex Ed - Jan Selman 2015-01-12

The phrase "child labour" carries negative undertones in today's society. However, only a century ago on the Canadian Prairies, youngsters laboured alongside their parents' working the land, cleaning stovepipes, and chopping wood. By shouldering their share of the chores, these children learned the domestic and manual labour skills needed for life on a Prairie family farm. Rollings-Magnusson uses historic research, photographs, and personal anecdotes to describe the kinds of work performed by children and how each task fit into the family economy. This book is a vital contribution to western Canadian history as well as family and gender studies.
