Married to a New York Menace - Giselle Gates 2020-04-09

Falling in love and marrying a New York menace named Harlem Wright was never in thirty sixty-year-old bombshell Honesty Anderson-Wright's plan. Besides that, she loved every minute of being Harlem's wife and the mother of his three children. Being secured finically and emotionally, Honesty could finally hold her head up high and say she was living the good life. Coming from a family of ten that only knew the trenches, she didn't care how her husband fed his family. As long as he came home in one piece, she continued to enjoy the life he handed to her on a silver platter. Even when the system locked him down for eight years, Honesty didn't change on him. Her marriage and love for her husband only became stronger. Just like every married woman, Honesty thought her marriage would resume once her husband was back into society. Boy, was she wrong! Honesty is left to pick up the pieces after Harlem abandons their family for another woman. Being separated and living apart, Honesty will finally see whom she gave her heart to. Will she be able to stomach the harsh reality of whom her husband is moving on? Suffering from a deep depression, Honesty needs to find a way to pick the pieces of her damaged heart. Love isn't what she's looking for, but Honesty can't help it when charming Julez Gates stumbles into her life oh so suddenly! His good boy ways will show her the real love she's been missing all her life. Moving on won't be as simple as she thought now that Harlem realizes that the grass is greener on the other side with his new woman. With Harlem holding secrets of his own, getting his family back isn't as easy as he thought it would be. Will Honesty forgive her husband or will she forget him and move on with Julez? They say love conquers all, but when you're married to a menace, secrets, and lies can crumble it all in the city of New York! Are you ready to meet Honesty and Harlem Wright?

Wife in Name Only - Charlotte Mary Brame 2015-10-17

"I cannot say that I am sorry," he continued, "for I love my wife very dearly; but I do wish now that I had been less hurried, less precipitate. My wife's great loveliness must be my excuse. She is the daughter of a poor curate, the Reverend Charles Trevor, who came two years ago to supply temporarily the place of the Rector of Lynton. He brought his daughter with him; and the first moment I saw her I fell in love with her. My heart seemed to go out from me and cleave to her. I loved her with what I can see now was the selfish ardor of a young man. I had but one thought--to win her. I wrote to my father, who was in Italy, and asked his consent. He refused it in the most decided manner, and told me to think no more of what after all was but a boy's fancy. He was then staying near the Lake of Como--staying for the benefit of his health--and I went over to see him. I pleaded, prayed, urged my great love--all in vain. The earl, my father, only laughed at me, and said all young men suffered from the fever called love. I came back to England, and found that Mr. Trevor was dead. Madaline, his daughter, was left alone in the world. She raised her beautiful face to mine, poor child, and tried to smile while she talked of going out into the world and of working hard for her daily bread; and, as I listened, my love seemed to grow stronger and deeper. I caught her in my arms, and swore that nothing should part us--that, come what would, she must be my wife. She was very unwilling--not that she did not love me, but because she was afraid of making my father angry; that was her great objection. She knew my love for him and his affection for me. She would not come between us. It was in vain that I prayed her to do as I wished. After a time she consented to a compromise--to marry me without my father's knowledge. It was a folly, I own; now I see clearly its imprudence--then I imagined it the safest and surest way. I persuaded her, as I had persuaded myself, that, when my father once knew that we were married, he would forgive us, and all would go well. We were married eleven months since, and I have been so happy since then that it has seemed to me but a single day. My beautiful young wife was frightened at the bold step we had taken, but I soothed her. I did not take her home to Wood Lynton, but, laying aside all the trappings of wealth and title, we have traveled from place to place as Mr. and Mrs. Charlewood, enjoying our long honeymoon. If we liked any one particular spot we remained in it. But a letter from Italy came like a thunderbolt--my father had grown rapidly worse and wanted to see me at once. If I had been content to go at once, all would have been well. I could not endure that he should die without seeing, loving, and blessing my wife Madaline. I told her my desire, and she consented most cheerfully to accompany me. I ought to have known that--in her state of health--traveling was most injurious; but I was neglectful of the fact--I listened only to my heart's desire, that my father should see my wife before he died. We started on our fatal journey--only this morning. At first my wife seemed to enjoy it; and then I saw all the color fading from her sweet face. I saw her lips grow white and tremble, and I became alarmed. It was not until we reached Castledene that she gave in and told me she could go no further. Still you say there is no danger, and that you do not think she will die?"

Husband Magnet - Barba Maulana Koroma 2020-02-24

One of the biggest decisions you will make in life is to pair up in marriage. While this is an important consideration for both men and women, it is an especially important one for women. This is because the number of eligible women surpasses that of eligible men in most communities. Secondly, men tend to take longer to decide on settling down in marriage, which makes test-driving relationships that end nowhere frustrating for women. But, if you have been looking and Mr. Right has yet to come knocking at your door, what do you do? Simply, you don't leave it all to chance as though you expect him to fall from the sky, you do your homework. As you do, please don't chase a man, attract him! Are you tired of being played by men who won't commit? Do you look forward to the day when you are the bride rather than the bridesmaid? Have you had enough of being bumped by less endowed women time and again? Do you believe that it is time for you to be the main show in the arms of your own man? If the answer to any of these questions is "yes", for you, a friend, schoolmate, family member, coworker, churchmate, or friend of a friend, then look no further. This is your moment to act and the tool you need. Husband Magnet will not only help a single woman fast-track to success in attracting a worthy man for marriage, it is a handy companion for a married woman who wishes to spice up her marriage. This book will teach you how to be a husband magnet.

Love the Man You Married - Angie Lewis 2006-10-01

Biblical-based insights for married women and women who are thinking of getting married. From marital infidelity to forgiveness this book explains it all! God made man to be the protector of women. Men love to do it, they want to do it, and they feel like a man when we let them do it! Most married women don't feel they need protected. They carry mace, a gun and take karate classes and act like a man and still, they are getting beaten, raped, manhandled, and murdered. What happens when we don't allow our husbands to protect us? We reject their love for us. Don't you want to be loved by your man? Don't you want your man to show his love for you? Did you know that when we don't let our husband's love us the way God meant for a man to love his wife, we are actually rebelling against God?

The Secrets of Happily Married Women - Scott Haltzman 2010-12-21

From the authors of the best-selling The Secrets of Happily Married Men comes the much-anticipated follow-up book The Secrets of Happily Married Women. In their first book, Dr. Haltzman and his coauthor Theresa Foy DiGeronmio outlined a recipe for men about growing a happy marriage: treat marriage with the same sense of purpose, resolve, and single-minded devotion that they have for their job. Although that workplace formula works well for men, an entirely different set of criteria resonate with women. In The Secrets of Happily Married Women, Dr. Haltzman tells us stories from real women who are happy in their relationships. These women know how to get more out of their partners by doing less, by not trying so hard to make men perfect, not dragging them to couples therapy, not expecting them to think or behave like a woman. These are women from Dr. Haltzman's clinical practice and culled from thousands of contributors to his Web site www.HappilyMarriedWomen.com. They have learned to understand how men really work and tap into men's powerful hard-wired desire to please women and "be a better man."
