them and turn them to your advantage (and nobody had explained it until now). Non-verbal language will be revealed to you in love! You will know how to react to a negative signal overturning the situation. If you are a woman, I'll explain how to behave according to the type of man you are looking for; how to make you approach the right one; how to make the man in your life talk to you and not to your friends; how to hook it and hold it tight with subtle moves, impossible to discover, but very powerful. If you are a man, I'll explain how to make your sex appeal soar even before opening your mouth, making it attractive for everyone; I describe you step by step how to walk, what expressions to do, and what poses to take to make sure that women hang around you like bees in front of the honey; from how to sit and look like the most dominant and desired man in the group. If you do not use body language, which together with the tone of voice represents 93% of communication, how do you think you are successful in seduction, in love, but also at work and in life? Answer: you can not.

Love Signals David Givens 2006-01-10 A world renowned anthropologist explores the nonverbal signs, signals, and cues human beings exchange to attract and keep their mates. As a medium of communication, Love's silent language predates speech by millions of years. Today, we still express emotions and feelings largely apart from words. The postures, gestures, and facial cues of attraction are universal, in all societies and cultures. According to Dr. Givens, courtship moves slowly through five distinct phases: attracting attention, recognition phase, conversation phase, touching phase, making love. Since potential mates "test" each other before uniting as one, courtship is a choreographed give and take of signs granting physical and emotional closeness. Love Signals is part ethnography and part how-to. Dr. Givens documents the little courting rituals witnessed in elevators, on subways, and in the workplace. He examines the essential role the face plays in courtship and how it can be optimally displayed. He decodes the body to find silent messages given off by shoulders, neck, arms, hands, waist, calves, ankles, feet, and toes. Dr. Givens analyzes expressive shapes, colors, and markings encoded in arm wear, shoulder wear, leg wear, and shoes. He deciphers the background messages of spaces, places and interiors to learn how environs help or hinder in the meeting process. Chemical cues emanating from aromas, tastes, steroids, sterols, and hormones strongly shape a partner's feelings, so they are explored as well. The book suggests ways to gaze, ways to read eyes across a room, and ways to sit, stand, align, walk dress, and lift a drink to participate in the fascinating adventure of finding, winning, and keeping a mate. Knowing the unspoken vocabulary of love signals will give readers an edge. What this means for courtship is that the reader becomes able to read unspoken motives, emotions, and feelings with great clarity and precision. The more readers know about the nonverbal idiom of attraction, the more likely they will find a loving, lasting partner.

the intended message across. People in law enforcement consider body language a valuable tool in fighting crime, sociologists believe body language is crucial to forming and maintaining relationships, and business people admit that it benefits global business. This book covers the most recent research findings of nonverbal studies on a wide range of diverse topics, including the rationale underlying body language. For an interesting and easy read, it is divided into nine sections and forty chapters with numerous sidebars and subheadings. Part One entitled Relationship Basics lays out the basics of relationships and body language, including the role of intuition, timing, and the five senses in body language interpretation. Also, gender differences are briefly analyzed. Part Two entitled Universal Expressions deals with some of the ways people are similar. Seven facial expressions are common to people in all cultures. For example, a smile is a universal expression although variations have different meanings. Part Three entitled Appearances and Body Language looks at the connection between body language and appearance. The difference between non-elective body language such as the mouth, nose, chin and ears and elective body language such as clothing and accessories are explored.
