Hands Free Orgasm and Others Gay Stories Alfredo Blackrock 2013-12 I have written the stories of this book for my personal pleasure, to recreate experiences that I would like to have lived, but did not have the good fortune to do so. However, each one has been generated by a grain of reality perhaps just from a fleeting glance or a situation never fully resolved. The subject matter of each of these stories is erotic. From a young age I have been a voracious reader, and the erotic genre has always interested me. The percentage of time devoted to these readings, has been increasing over time, and is now overwhelmingly dominant for me. However, more importantly, I have come to appreciate the powerful role of sex in human behavior in general and in myself in particular. As long as our fundamental needs for food and water are met, the desire for the erotic prevail over, or at least color, all other concerns. The survival of the species after all depends on this drive. Sex is at the crossroads between survival and extinction. There is a strong component that was suppressed in my childhood for social and cultural reasons. Over time this restraint has been released. I believe that a certain kind of physical sex is much more important for men than for women. For women, a primary drive and source of satisfaction is the protection and welfare of offspring. Male sex, on the other hand, is linked to power relations. Usually a man by his nature wants many partners, and may seek them indiscriminately. This might include homosexual contacts. For those who have found the latter, they have also discovered a liberating freedom to pursue sex in its pure and unadulterated form unfettered by responsibilities or consequences. Sex with like-minded males is pure and hard. The stories I write must first be exciting for me and also, I hope, the reader. They are in that sense, stories to be read with only one hand. I realize that not everyone has the same sensitivity; indeed each one of us is unique. However, it is very important for me to know that someone gets pleasure by reading my stories. The knowledge that another person has been touched and excited with the images that I created, makes me feel an intimate contact with them. As situations and feelings are described, I hope they evoke responses in others as they did myself. This contact through words and images may be more profound and exciting than direct physical contact itself. Sex, like many other things, lies in the complex and wonderful organ that is our brain. It excites me to think that someone masturbates with my stories, and that I am the one who is providing him pleasure even though my hands never touch him. I sought to create sensual scenes that may be both delicate and powerful as well as representing profound truths. In the stories that follow some situations and emotions reoccur. Some might say in an obsessive way. So be it. They include first time experiences, but predominantly they are predator-prey relationship, dominant and submissive roles, initiator and initiated situations, master and apprentice associations, and relationships with marked age differences. All the younger characters are of legal age. I also like the play of light and shadow, between desire and fear. My stories depict the dualities of sex, smooth and rough, curve and edge, cold and heat, resistance and surrender. The relationship between pleasure and pain are also explored. Whether they are derived from biology or culture, I believe they lie within all. Active and passive roles are traditionally stated as those of the male and the female, but I submit they are present in all of us to a greater or lesser degree. I recognize both types of sensations in myself and I presume readers will too. The position between the two poles depends on the person, but the two are inseparable and cannot exist without each other. In these stories, the staging sketches are intentionally cinematographic. To accompany the images I attempt to create, I suggest background music to your own taste.

Men and women, old and young, gay, straight, Christian and Muslim; the stories range from the funny and the sad to the happy and occasionally, the unbelievable. Thus was born her much reviewed blog, The Virginity Project, and now this book. How do we define the loss of our virginity? What, if any, impact does the first time have on the rest of our lives? And in some cases how do we know for sure when that moment has occurred? After all sorts of conversations with all sorts of people, Kate will reveal the Gay Girl, Good God Jackie Hill Perry 2018-09-03 "I used to be a lesbian." In Gay Girl, Good God, author Jackie Hill Perry shares her own story, offering practical tools that helped her in the process of finding wholeness. Jackie grew up fatherless and experienced gender confusion. She embraced masculinity and homosexuality with every fiber of her being. She knew that Christians had a lot to say about all of the above. But was she supposed to change herself? How was she supposed to stop loving women, when homosexuality felt more natural to her than heterosexuality ever could? At age nineteen, Jackie came face-to-face with what it meant to be made new. And not in a church, or through contact with Christians. God broke in and turned her heart toward Him right in her own bedroom in light of His gospel. Read in order to understand. Read in order to hope. Or read in order, like Jackie, to be made new.

Brown and Gay in LA Anthony Christian Ocampo 2022-09-19 The stories of second-generation immigrant gay men coming of age in Los Angeles Growing up in the shadow of Hollywood, the gay sons of immigrants featured in Brown and Gay in LA could not have felt further removed from a world where queerness was accepted and celebrated. Instead, the men profiled here maneuver through family and friendship circles where masculinity dominates, gay sexuality is unspoken, and heterosexuality is strictly enforced. For these men, the path to sexual freedom often involves chasing the dreams while resisting the expectations of their immigrant parents—and finding community in each other. Ocampo also details his own story of reconciling his queer Filipino American identity and those of men like him. He shows what it was like for these young men to grow up gay in an immigrant family, to be the one gay person in their school and ethnic community, and to be a person of color in predominantly White gay spaces. Brown and Gay in LA is an homage to second-generation gay men and their radical redefinition of what it means to be gay, to be a man, to be a person of color, and, ultimately, what it means to be an American.

He thought that Logan was just another homeowner who hired him to fix his internet, but he soon found out that Logan was so much more... Logan has been a rich kid all his life, with typical parents who were always away and never acknowledged his taste in men. seduce the man. But the two have to face Logan's parents, who didn't approve of their relationship. Will Logan ever break out of his parents' grasp or will their love be just short lived? SAMPLE: "Come and get it, Larry the Internet Guy," he said with a cheeky grin. "Be right there," I said. I climbed down from the ladder and started for the kitchen. I'd been in homes where the people were very friendly. Many offered me coffee or a soda but none had ever fed me or been anywhere as friendly as this kid. It was like he was flirting with me. I didn't know for sure what to think about that. The truth was that I thought for a long time that I was bisexual. I dated girls in high school and college and had sex a few times. But I also messed around with some guys in high school and college. I wasn't sure which I liked best, but I leaned toward guys. When I thought about it, I was a little uncomfortable about it. I knew my life would have a lot less drama if I just forgot guys and found a girl to settle down with, but every time I was with a girl I'd think about some guy I'd been with. It was a very confusing thing for me. Now this kid was acting like he dug me and I didn't know what to do. I walked into the kitchen and he was sitting at the island countertop on a stool with his feet up on the rungs. "Sit, Larry, your breakfast is served." I looked and there was a plate with bacon, hash browns, two eggs, and toast, and a glass of orange juice. There was even a slice of orange twisted and lying like a decoration on top of my eggs. "Do you drink coffee?" he asked. "No thanks, the juice is fine. Damn, you're a quite a cook. This looks like what you'd get at IHOP." He grinned. "Breakfast isn't hard. Any average ass can fry bacon and potatoes. It doesn't take much skill to push down the toaster and butter toast." I sat and began eating. "Well I've never been asked to breakfast before, so I thank you. This is fantastic." "Happy to have you. It's nice to have someone to talk to. I've been spending a lot of alone time out here in the boondocks." "No buddies to visit?" "Not lately. I've been pretty much all to myself. Most of my friends from high school have jobs this summer or have left for vacations." I felt kind of sorry for the kid. Of course he probably had everything a kid his age could want but being alone was not fun. "So, Larry, are you married?" "Nope." "Girlfriend?" "Nope." "Boyfriend?" "Huh? I um, what?" He grinned. "I asked if you had a boyfriend? Are you straight, bi, or gay?" "I'm um, jeez you don't hold back, do you?" He grinned and scratched his balls. "I was just asking. If you don't want to answer, it's fine." He put one foot up on the seat of the stool and leaned against the wall. I looked down and his cock was showing in the leg of his boxers. I turned away quickly. "I really need to get going on that dish," I said. "Thanks for the breakfast." I got up and started for the door. "If you need anything... anything at all, just holler," he said. I turned and his dick was nearly hard and sticking out of the leg of his boxers. Holy shit!
