More Everyday Science Mysteries: Stories for Inquiry-Based Science Teaching - Richard Konicek-Moran 2009

Through 15 mystery stories, this book memorably illustrates science concepts for students and reinforces the value of learning science through inquiry. Each mystery presents opportunities for students to create questions, form hypotheses, test their ideas, and come up with explanations. Focused on concepts such as periodic motion, thermodynamics, temperature and energy, and sound, these mysteries draw students into the stories by grounding them in experiences students are familiar with, providing them with a foundation for classroom discussion and inquiry.

is covered too, explaining the science behind what makes a great cocktail great, giving a brief overview on the building blocks of cocktails. • Recipes for lots of cocktails perfect for any bar are presented in detail too, with instructions, alongside proposed and recommended lists for new or changing bars that appeal to all tastes and proclivities. • This book contains everything a Mixologist needs to know before crafting awesome cocktails, and is a concise quick start guide to one of the most exciting skills in the world! About the Expert Daniel Morgan is a self taught mixologist who went on to gain his qualifications following his stint running a cocktail bar. What started as a humble endeavour above a coffee shop quickly turned into an underground hit, garnering a following of locals and travelers alike who came from all around to try his exclusive and delicious cocktails. He now works in bar consultancy and training, helping other bars to raise their game and impress their clientele. Daniel says that great Mixology is equal parts care and passion. The art of mixology extends beyond the drink itself - it's about the presentation, the creation of it. The show put on for the customer is as much a part of the drink as the ingredients. You have to love making the drink, or they won't love drinking it. HowExpert publishes quick 'how to' guides on all topics from A to Z by everyday experts.
