Poor Little Rich Girl - Grace Dent 2011-10-06

Poppet Montague-Jones is 15, 87th in line to the British throne and soon to inherit a whopping trust fund. Unlike her sister Kitten - legendary wild child and society columnist in London Alive (see Diary of a Chav), Poppet is a troubled and ill-fitting teenager who is at an impressionable age, and doesn't quite know how to launch herself into the world. Poppet spends much of her time daydreaming and getting bossed about by her flamboyant school friends, Vixen Blaze Brocklehurst and Striker Earhart. Between them, the girls get up to all sorts of high jinks a la St Trinians at school and in their stinkingly rich 'hood', not giving much thought to their future. They're rich, so who cares! Poppet's Mum Saskia has her future in hand anyway: a career in fashion and marriage to nice, loaded, Felix Hayes Burlington across the road. Thing is, Poppet is not entirely sure it's what she really wants. Isn't there more to life than charity lunches and yoga? Is Poppet destined for a life of designer grunge and decadence without lifting a finger to earn her own living, or is she brave enough to break out of the mould?

The Yellow - Ashwini Kukreja 2018-11-23

The Yellow is an interesting story in simple language that empowers the reader to invent possibilities and get better at decision making. I am the girl, the boy, the boatman or the woodcutter? This revelation stumps us! The Yellow Quadrant beautifully explains how happiness and social responsibility play a vital role in people's actions. The title, The Yellow is so, as our pure white innocent nature, with which we are born, gets tanned to a shade of yellow, due to influences of life like parenting, schooling, internet, friends, TV etc. This yellow controls how we behave in a situation and affects our decision making. Is this the perfect yellow for us? Or we wish to change to a different yellow which works for us? The guided memory exercise helps shifting from one to the other quadrant. The Yellow offers unique takeaways for every reader.

No Shame for the Sun - Shahla Haeri 2002-11-01

This groundbreaking work sheds new light on the status, conflicts, and social realities of educated Muslim women in Pakistan. Six candid interviews introduce readers to a class of professional Muslim women that is rarely, if ever, acknowledged in the West. These women tell of conflicts and compromises with family, kin, and community, while facing violence, archaic marriage rules, and locally entrenched codes of conduct. With brave eloquence they speak of human dignity and gender equality, of economic deprivation and social justice, and of feminism and fundamentalism. Challenging stereotypes, No Shame for the Sun reveals the uniqueness of each person and diversity in the life experience of Pakistani Muslim women, including their world views and the struggles to change their society. Through their struggles, professional Pakistani women have become conscious of their own and other women's situations in their country. Because they exercise power and authority in their chosen fields, they risk losing their families' support and antagonizing their communities. Carefully detailed and meticulously researched, this book offers a much-needed perspective on the changing circumstances of Pakistani women along with a view of established patterns and structural constraints within Pakistan. On a broader level, it examines Western misconceptions regarding Islam, a religion that crosses many borders and cultures.

More Than Paradise - Jennifer Fulton 2007-02-01

In More Than Paradise two very different women battle danger, risk all, and find in one another an unexpected ally and an unforgettable love. Botanist Charlotte Lascelles can't believe her luck when she is selected for a three month research expedition in the Foja Mountains of New Guinea, exploring a lost world that is home to countless new species. The last thing she expects is to find her team being led deep into the mist-shrouded jungle by a woman who has spent the past fifteen years working as a mercenary soldier and interpreter for shady characters in Indonesia and East Timor. To make matters worse, Ash Evans proceeds to hit on her five minutes after they meet. Although friends accuse Charlotte of being uptight, she simply has standards, and they don't include hooking up with brazen flirts like Ash. She can't wait until the helicopter returns to take the distracting and far too sexy guide out of her sight. But things aren't going her way. Torrential rains wash half the camp into a ravine, and when one of the scientists goes missing, the team is forced away from the helicopter rendezvous location on a journey deep into the unknown. Compelled to share a tent with her nemesis, Charlotte soon finds her determined reserve no match for the feelings Ash ignites.

Deco Body, Deco City - Ageeth Sluis 2015-10-26

In the turbulent decades following the Mexican Revolution, Mexico City saw a drastic influx of female migrants seeking escape and protection from the ravages of war in the countryside. While some settled in slums and tenements, where the informal economy often provided the only means of survival, the revolution, in the absence of men, also prompted women to take up traditionally male roles, created new jobs in the public sphere open to women, and carved out new social spaces in which women could exercise agency. In Deco Body, Deco City, Ageeth Sluis explores the effects of changing gender norms on the formation of urban space in Mexico City by linking aesthetic and architectural discourses to political and social developments. Through an analysis of the relationship between female migration to the city and gender performances on and off the stage, the book shows how a new transnational ideal female physique informed the physical shape of the city. By bridging the gap between indigenismo (pride in Mexico's indigenous heritage) and mestizaje (privileging the ideal of race mixing), this new female deco body paved the way for mestizo modernity. This cultural history enriches our understanding of Mexico's postrevolutionary decades and brings together social, gender, theater, and architectural history to demonstrate how changing gender norms formed the basis of a new urban modernity.

An Unquenchable Thirst - Mary Johnson 2011-05-12

At seventeen, Mary Johnson saw a photo of Mother Teresa on the cover of TIME magazine, and experienced her calling. Eighteen months later she entered a convent in the South Bronx, to begin her religious training. Not without difficulty, this boisterous, independent-minded teenager eventually adapted to the sisters' austere life of poverty and devotion, but beneath the white-and-blue sari an ordinary woman faced the struggles we all share, with the desires of love and connection, meaning and identity. During her years as a Missionary of Charity, Mary Johnson rose quickly through the ranks and came to work alongside Mother Teresa. Mary grappled with her faith, her desires for intimacy, the politics of the order and her complicated relationship with Mother Teresa. Finally, she made the hard, life-changing decision to leave the order to find her own path, and eventually to leave the Church altogether. The story of this compellingly honest woman will speak to anyone who has ever grappled with the mysteries and wonders of life and faith.

Drama Trauma Millionaire, Covid19 Vision years earlier, Climate Change - Kima Majid 2022-02-28

Drama Trauma Millionaire, Covid19 Vision years earlier, Climate Change is a dystopian fiction novel that addresses the Corona Pandemic that affected humanity in 2020 and climate change. As we encounter this unknown and dangerous infection, we are presented with the story of Jenny and Lenny, the two protagonists of this psychodrama story, who, since their childhood, struggled in poverty and child abuse. However, in their maltreatment and through all the obstacles they encounter, Jenny and Lenny develop unique survival skills: they may look like ordinary people but they are able to do extraordinary things. At some point, their roads will diverge but, the two will eventually reunite. Kima Majid, born in 1982, is a psychologist who lives and grew up in Germany. Kurdish of Syrian origin. She works with both children and adults. Her creativity was stimulated in her work environment, which has always been full of new ideas and experiences. But, mostly, it was her clients who allowed her to learn more about life each day and enrich her world. Not only her job experiences have led to the writing of Drama Trauma Millionaire, Covid19 Vision years earlier, Climate Change, but she was also inspired to pen this book by members who are involved in the vaccine production process. In addition to that, friends of the VR team California Dreams have contributed to the writing of this futuristic novel.

A Portrait of the Lady in Modern American Literature - Aimee Pozorski 2018-10-23

fifteen original essays, and a reprint of a classic essay, that reconsiders the figure of the woman in distress in canonical American texts. Approached from the method of close reading and the theoretical perspective of gender theory, these essays look at the forgotten women at the heart of such beloved works as The Tragic Muse, The Awakening, The Age of Innocence, The Great Gatsby, Machinal, Passing, The Sound and the Fury, Their Eyes Were Watching God, and The Hours. In taking up the famous question "What does a woman want?" this collection finds some answers in artistic endeavour, political agency, freedom, and - above all - independence.

Armored of Lyonesse - Walter Besant 2022-09-15

'Armored of Lyonesse' is a romance novel that begins on the evening of a fine September day. Through the square window, built out so as to form another room almost as large as that which had been thus enlarged, the autumn sun, now fast declining to the west, poured in warm and strong; but not too warm or too strong for the girl on whose head it fell as she sat leaning back in the low chair, her face turned towards the window. The sun of Scilly is never too fierce or too burning in summer, nor in winter does it ever lose its force; in July, when the people of the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland venture not forth into the glare of the sun, here the soft sea mists and the strong sea air temper the heat; and in December the sun still shines with a lingering warmth, as if he loved the place. This girl lived in the sunshine all the year round; rowed in it; lay in it; basked in it bare-headed, summer and winter; in the winter she would sit sheltered from the wind in some warm corner of the rocks; in summer she would lie on the hillside or stand upon the high headlands and the sea-beat crags, while the breezes, which in the Land of Lyonesse do never cease, played with her long tresses and kept her soft cheek cool.
