Gender and Migraine - Antoinette Maassen van den Brink 2019-02-14

This book focuses on the influence of sex and gender in migraine, presenting new insights in basic science as well as their clinical relevance. As migraine is roughly three times more common in women than in men, and also highly depends on hormonal milestones – such as menarche, menstruation, pregnancy and menopause – particular attention is devoted to the role of female sex hormones in this disease. The first chapters present general data on gender-related differences in migraine such as epidemiology, comorbidities and related risks. Furthermore, while several chapters focus on the role of female sex hormones in migraine-triggering mechanisms at a basic scientific level (e.g. cranial circulation), ample attention is also paid to the clinical relevance of such mechanisms and to the best clinical treatment for migraine patients. As the first book entirely devoted to this topic, it will be of interest to researchers and practitioners in the fields of neurology, internal medicine, endocrinology, physiology and pharmacology.

Sex, Gender, and Pain - Roger B. Fillingim 2000

Research is finally acknowledging that sex differences in pain perception are experimental opportunities rather than obstacles. For the International Association for the Study of Pain, 32 specialists in 18 contributions explore basic biopsychosocial considerations for sex, gender, and pain research; and sex-related differences in experimental pain responses, and in clinical conditions (e.g. headache disorders, fibromyalgia, irritable bowel syndrome). The concluding paper by K. Berkley (neuroscience, Florida State U., Tallahassee) proposes a developmental lifespan framework for the complex issue of whether there is characteristic female pain as vs. male pain. Fillingim is in the U. of Florida's College of Dentistry. For those keeping count of such matters, there is about a 40:60 percent ratio of female to male authors. Sex After Baby - Kathleen Hamilton 2007

After she had a baby at 39, Kathleen Hamilton's sexual desire dove overnight from, "Honey, can we please have sex tonight, I've got a headache?"; to nothing. Zero. Zip. Nada. It was an identity crisis. None of the books and articles Kathleen could find came close to explaining why was lost her libido, or how or when she might find it again. No one around Kathleen talked openly about her experience balancing sex and motherhood - until Kathleen asked. Funny, frank, political, and poignant, Sex After Baby: Why There Is None is Kathleen's quest to bring the surprise triple orgasm back into her life. Along the way, the book reveals how Kathleen's questions about sex after baby - among her friends and neighbours and favourite books - brought her new, unexpected understanding of women's sexuality and women's lives.

He brings us through standard first line therapies into more complex "end of the line" medication treatments. This book presents a cohesive, single-authored approach that is unique. Preventive and abortive medication for migraine, tension, and cluster headache are completely discussed. Hormonal aspects, such as treatment of menstrual and menopausal headache, are presented at length. There is an extensive section on children's headaches, and a separate discussion on headache in adolescents. These sections present a very clear and effective approach to headache management in children and adolescents. Dr. Robbins effectively tackles such important subjects as post-traumatic headache, lumbar puncture headache, indomethacin responsive syndromes, and occipital neuralgia. Dr. Lawrence Robbins is one of our top authorities on the management of headache medications. He has contributed greatly through his research and writing on various headache topics. Using the Maintenance of Certification (MOC) and American Board of Internal Medicine blueprints for examination development, authors provide evidence-based reviews with several challenge questions and annotated answers at the end of each chapter. The epidemiology, pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, treatment, and prognosis of all disease processes are detailed in each chapter. THE FIRST MONTH MOM: The fertilized egg implants itself in your uterus wall. You'll be suffering from nausea, vomiting, mood fluctuations, spotting, breast tenderness and fatigue. BABY: the egg continues to grow and differentiate. The yolk sac will supply the embryo with nourishment. The embryo produces the human chorionic gonadotrophin (hCG) hormone. DO: Take a prenatal vitamin containing folic acid, eat more fruits, vegetables and protein and drink 2L of water daily. DON'T: refrain from eating raw or undercooked meat or eggs. Avoid alcohol, drugs, radiation, and smoking. THE SECOND MONTH MOM: Your uterus continues to expand while hormone levels increase daily. The volume of blood in your circulation increases. Symptoms of dizziness, nausea, vomiting, fatigue, frequent urination and mood swings continue. BABY: many cells are being formed and differentiated into major organs. The most important milestone this month is the beginning of the heartbeat, the limb buds and facial features begin to take shape. DO: Have a balanced diet and engage in some mild form of exercise. DON'T: go more than 2 to 3 hours without eating. Avoid caffeinated beverages. THIRD MONTH MOM: Expect to have gained some weight. Your energy levels will improve, but you'll have feelings of dizziness occasionally along with constipation and hemorrhoids. BABY: Your baby begins to move its limbs around the 10th week. Its genitals begin to form. The baby's heart beats around 135 beats per minute, and he will begin to form urine and starts exchanging waste products with the placenta. DO: get plenty of rest and maintain good personal hygiene. DON'T: lift heavy objects. Skip the oil and spicy food. THE FOURTH MONTH MOM: You'll experience heartburn, indigestion, and constipation. The breast discomfort and darkening of the areola will continue too. BABY: The fetus will have transparent skin covered with Lanugo. Practice safe sex to avoid contracting STDs. THE SIXTH MONTH MOM: You'll feel out of breath as your uterus rises. The baby's kick and jerks will be very profound. Your baby may be able to recognize your voice. His lungs begin to produce surfactant and the baby's spinal structures, and his brain cells are maturing. DO: track the baby's kicks. Maintain correct posture to minimize the back pain. DON'T: ignore the symptoms of pregnancy-induced hypertension: abdomen pain, headache. It is not all you got to read in this book.
