Copperthwaite 2021-02-23

MISSING - Have you seen this girl? Nineteen-year-old Leila Hawkins was last seen on 24 June, 1994, when she left her parents' anniversary party early and ran into the stormy night wearing her twin sister Stella's long red coat. She was never seen again. Stella holds the missing poster flat against the tree trunk and presses to make sure it's secure. She tries not to look at the photograph on it. At the features so similar to hers. This time every year she decorates the small seaside town they grew up in with pictures of her beautiful missing twin. But after almost twenty-five years, is it even worth hoping someone will come forward? The last thing Stella ever expects is a direct response from the person who took Leila. Wracked with guilt about the secret she's been keeping since the night of the party, and completely alone in the world without the other half of her, Stella agrees to his strange request: private, intimate details of her life in return for answers. But as the true events of the night of the party play out before her, Stella feels closer to Leila than she ever dreamed she'd be again - too close. Will it be too late before she realises she's walked right into a deadly trap? Will she suffer the same fate as her sister? and who will live?

The Whispers of the Streets

- J. Earl Loving Jr. 2009-02-19 FROM CHAPTER 1. THE PROMISE ... Even the very sun who had been his friend back in Georgia now seemed to hate him. It proved it by shooting its hot, angry breath through his bedroom window of this place, these stinking projects, this prison, this hell with his newly found mama, Dora. Hurt, brokenhearted, and disgusted, he slammed his eyes shut! His eyes were shut so tight that only a solitary shattered tear was able to get through. Yes, thirteen-year-old Chris could not think of one reason to open his eyes in this place, this big, stinking city, this hell. He knew that this would just be another day of boredom, dread and despair in this place where he was now forced to live. In this hell, there was no rooster to nobly announce the beginning of a brand-new day! There were no chicks and chickens clucking loudly and no ducks honking. Here there were no grunts of the hogs and pigs impatiently waiting for him to feed and water them. He smiled as he thought of the old dog restlessly waiting for him to get to pet, water, and feed.

God knows that he had never fully appreciated life in the country until he was forced to live in this place, this hell, this city! Another solitary tear flowed gently down his light cream and coffee complexioned cheek as he reminded himself again that his grandmother was dead and gone forever.
Never again would his grandmother be there for him making coffee, baking biscuits, cooking grits, frying bacon, ham, and eggs! No one was there to hug him asking how he had slept, and no one to say morning prayers with before completing his morning chores.
He missed singing All is Well with MY SOUL for his grandmother before he merrily went out into the happy Georgia fresh air and sunshine.
He could not figure out what these people did as they just seemed to just hang around waiting. In their windows, on their steps, and on the corners, they waited. Like the crows and the vultures back home, they waited. They waited for the mailman, the dope man, the police, and the ambulance.

Except the man next door, they did not even sweep their fronts and trash was everywhere.

These people unwrapped their food, their candy, their cigarettes and stuff, and threw the wrappers on the ground.

There was so much trash on the ground that it looked like some strange crops growing.

Once he saw some men in bright yellow uniforms sweeping the stuff up. But soon like the weeds back home, the trash returned, seemingly all by itself. Although, Dora never asked as she really did not care, Chris took pride in sweeping both the front and back of the low rise development in which they lived. He hoped that she would notice and tell him how proud she was of him for doing it. She kept the inside very clean, but she did not live outside. So, that was that. She was a very happy, amusing, and a witty woman when her friends were around. She really put it on if her guest was a man! However, when it came to Chris, she made it quite clear that he was on his own. EXCERPT:

CHAPTER 6. HOPE ... But we loved that old ROOSEVELT and when he signed that Order 8802 a whole bunch of us got in the service. But you see I didn't trust them too much, and there was a lot of money to be made with all the work that the war caused. We were living the life with a lot more money than we knew what to do with at the time. I just met this old girl that came up here from New Orleans, because, well, I thought that she was dirt poor and came up to make some money and find a husband. She was the prettiest thing that we ever seen around here, and we started courting almost as soon as she got off the bus ( he chuckled to himself). Her name was Antoinette. She had the softest light real near white skin that I had ever seen even on white folks, long Black shining hair, and a very pretty smile, you see. She loved to laugh, and I did as much as I could to make her laugh. If she wanted a clown, I sure damned was going to be one. She always spoke in a near whisper in that half French way that they speak down there in the French Quarter down there, and sometimes we didn't know what the hell she was talking about. But she was so damned pretty that I really didn't care since she was my girl. Hell, after a couple of weeks of being together, she started talking that talk to me and whatever she was saying sounded so good to me that I was agreeing all over myself! She got so excited that we didn't go to see the show like we was suppose to and spent the night together. We made good music that night, if you know what I mean? That was the summer of forty-three, and I was so happy that I didn't know what to do with myself. The next morning she told me that she had to send her Mama a telegram to let her know that we was coming down so she could meet me and show me off to her family. That's when I realized that the woman was talking about marriage! Well, I tell you that I was scared to death, because I never thought about marrying her or anybody else at the time, you see! But she was such a pretty thing that I said to myself BOY, AS UGLY AS YOU ARE, YOU AIN't GOING TO DO MUCH BETTER.

Subtle Art of Not Giving A F*ck, a self help book that packs a punch. Mark brings the same approach to teaching men what they need to know about attracting women. In Models he shows us how much it sucks trying to attract women using the tricks and tactics recommended by other books. Instead, he says, men need to focus on seduction as an emotional process not a physical or social one. What matters is the intention, the motivation, the authenticity. To improve your dating life you must improve your emotional life - how you feel about yourself and how you express yourself to others. Funny, irreverent and confronting, Models is a mature and honest guide on how a man can attract women by giving up the bullsh*t and becoming an honest broker. How does a young woman find herself involved in prostitution in Ireland? In an era that asks us to take a 'sex-positive' view of it, how does this translate in reality? And why aren't we talking about it more? Any Girl is one woman's first-hand account of Ireland's sex trade. An experience of sexual exploitation as a teenager carved a direct path for Mia into the world of prostitution, a hidden part of her life during her college years in Dublin. There, in a system of casual entitlement, she met with abuse, violence and degradation, finally leaving it behind at age 24. Over a decade on, now a psychotherapist specialising in sexual trauma, Mia shares her remarkable story with passion and a determination to challenge dominant perceptions of prostitution today. Any Girl amounts to a radical act of truth-telling that shines with courage and hope. 'A powerful and important book' - Ivana Bacik, T.D. 'Will open your eyes and your heart to a hidden world that most choose to ignore' Jarlath Regan

The Guyde - Howie Reith

2016-11-19

The Guyde is the most comprehensive men's dating and self-improvement book ever written, designed to be everything you need to transform into the most confident version of yourself. There are no lines or routines; instead you'll find exercises and information to improve your self-esteem, social skills, and other elements integral to social success. Everything in these pages is backed with scientific evidence, and when I say scientific evidence, I mean cited peer-reviewed literature, not pop evolutionary psychology or the "law of attraction." You won't be reading anecdotes telling you about my "successes" or opinions; you'll be learning the practical steps necessary for the specific changes you want to manifest in your life. The Guyde is divided into four sections: Part I - Psychology Part I focuses on the internal elements of social interaction. How do you overcome your toxic self-limiting beliefs that keep you from being authentic with people? How do you overcome your fears? How can you stay motivated to make your changes? You will learn clinically effective approaches to all of these and more. Part II - Social Skills For many men, the biggest barrier between themselves and social success is a lack of social skills and awareness. In Part II, you'll learn how to shore up this weakness. You will learn how to listen, banter, share stories, and assert yourself with others. You'll learn how to improve your body language and vocal tonality to project confidence and charisma. Part III - Physical Attractiveness Part III will teach you how to improve your physical features. The first two chapters detail the most clinically effective approaches to diet and exercise. We'll also discuss the basics of fashion and how to dress to impress. Master Part III, and when you go out, you will turn heads. Part IV - Dating The final portion of The Guyde deals with dating, in this version, in a heterosexual male context. You'll learn the best places to meet potential dates, how to flirt, and how to ask someone out. You'll learn how to plan brag-worthy romantic evenings and how to address problems like rude cancellations and "ghosting." You'll learn how to interact physically while being sensitive to your date's wishes, as well as how to perform better in bed. You'll learn why relationships fail and how to avoid the pitfalls most couples fall into, and you'll come to understand a bit about what it's like to date from a woman's perspective, including many of the cultural factors they face that most men don't understand. The Guyde is a labor of love. I wrote it to be everything I wish I'd known when I was younger, the sorts of things that turned my life around for the better. I hope it does the same for you.

Get Over Yourself! - Patti Novak 2008-12-30

True love doesn't just happen, notes professional matchmaker Patti Novak. You have to work for it—and want it. Forget eight-minute speed dates or online dating sites with twenty-page questionnaires that promise a scientifically calculated perfect match. The fact that you both like golf, stamp collecting, and pizza with anchovies is great, but it won't mean a thing if you don't feel that zing. But before there can be sparks, there have to be dates. And before the first date, you need to get over yourself! Taking a tough-love approach, and in her signature straight-shooting style, Patti will show you how to fix what needs to be fixed, reach your core, and identify who you are and what you want in a partner. She uses a three-part common-sense formula: • Getting Over What? Assess your dating weaknesses, recognize what's not working, and adjust your expectations. Delve into your personal history and past relationships, and pinpoint the issues that have been holding you back. • Almost Over It Fine-tune your attitude, your look, and your behavior to maximize your dating chances. Novak lays out strategies to help you deal with the brutal dating monsters you find along the way. • Over It Learn the do's and don'ts of the first date, the second date, and beyond. Remember, it's not a job interview or therapy session. Pretend you're meeting a new friend, not a prospective husband or wife. Finding your one and only isn't about having the right shoes or a flat stomach. It's about being true to yourself, being vulnerable, and being ready for love. Whether you're new to the dating scene, divorced and looking, or just trying to reach that second date, Get Over Yourself! will help you get the love you've always wanted and deserve.

How to Attract and Approach a Woman - Roman

G. Turkowsky 2012-04-04

Picture this. If you are a guy that has spent any time in any place at all trying to talk to a woman, you know how this scene goes. You see the woman of your dreams. Okay, this may be a little exaggeration. But you see a pretty woman somewhere. Of course, when you see her, you naturally want to go talk to her. Thus far, you haven't done a thing wrong. You walk over to her and say hi. She greets you back, not incredibly interested. As pretty as she is, there is no doubt that she has been randomly approached by men that look just as good, if not better than you on a regular basis. This is just to be expected, no matter how good you think you look, or actually do. She is just used to it. You introduce yourself and offer your hand to shake. She accepts your hand and tells you her name. Once again, you are doing just fine. This is where the story starts to go downhill, though. There is an awkward pause as she looks at you expecting you to say something else. After all, you approached her. You try desperately to think of something to say. All that comes out is three strikes in a single question because you have nothing better to say. She answers you absently, and looks around for someone that she knows to talk to, greeting them from across the room. She smiles and takes off, politely casting a "nice to meet
