Kitane, Bull Jumper J Oestreicher 2018-05-08 On an island in the Middle Sea, 3500 years ago, Kitane is next in line to inherit her family's trade fortune and properties. She will inherit only if she marries by the time she is seventeen, which is coming up quickly. There are plenty of suitors, but Kitane can't decide because there is something she must do first. Time is in short supply. The God Potidas is angry. The ground rumbles and islanders flee from the threatening volcano at Thera. Will the Goddess Jasasara intervene and save Her people? If Kit doesn't succeed, she may lose everything she loves: her bull, her home, her honor and her family's respect, and the Goddess' help. Can Kitane's renowned bull jumping convince the Goddess to help for the good of all?

Influence of Bull Traits and Bull to Female Ratio on Reproductive Perfomance in Beef Females and of Nutrition During Gestation on Calving Difficulty in Primiparous Beef Females Blake David Bloomberg 2011 The current study involved two experiments that were conducted at the Texas A & M AgriLife Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, TX (semi-arid environment) from 2006 to 2008. In experiment one, Bonsmara bulls (n = 39; 20-24 mo of age) were joined with multiparous Bonsmara and Bonsmara-influenced females (n = 1013) during a 90-day breeding season in 2006, 2007, and 2008 to quantify the effects of a reduction in bull to female ratio on reproductive performance. Bulls were also placed with primiparous beef

females (n = 142). Bulls were allotted by selected physical traits, social rank, serving capacity, and seminal traits to one of two bull to female (BFR) treatments: Low (1:30-1:45; n = 10 pastures) or Conventional (1:16-1:26; n = 12 pastures) BFR. Pregnancy rate (P = 0.36), calving date (P = 0.24), and calving rate (P = 0.25) did not differ between Conventional and Low BFR treatments. The current experiment demonstrates that Low BFR can be utilized in breeding pastures of up to 2,090 ha without negatively affecting reproductive performance. In experiment two, Bonsmara heifers (3/4, 7/8, and full bloods) were exposed to Bonsmara bulls from April 15 to July 15 during each of the two years. Heifers were weighed, rectally palpated for pregnancy, and scored for BCS (1 thin - 9 fat) and frame score (1 short - 9 tall) in December (end of second trimester) during years 1 and 2. Heifers were stratified on expected calving date and randomly allotted to one of two levels of nutrition for the remainder of gestation. In year 1, heifers were allotted to range forage (n=31, low nutrition, LN) or to non-irrigated oat pasture (n=31, high nutrition, HN). In year 2, heifers were placed onto the same range environment as in year 1 (n=31, LN) or onto irrigated ryegrass pasture (n=31,HN). Heifers in the LN groups were supplemented with 20% CP cubes at the rate of 0.9 kg/heifer/day from January 2 until calving while HN heifers were not supplemented. Within 4 hr of birth, calves were weighed, and calf vigor and calving difficulty scores were recorded. Heifers were weighed within 72 hours of parturition. From treatment initiation through calving, HN heifers gained 48.6 kg whereas the LN females lost 15 kg. Twice as many HN heifers required major assistance at calving as compared to LN heifers. Calves born to the HN females weighed 3.7 kg more at birth than those born to LN females. These differences resulted in HN heifers having (P = 0.005) more calving difficulty than LN heifers (mean calving difficulty of 2.3 for HN and 1.6 for LN). The calves of the HN females were also less vigorous (P = 0.005) after birth than the calves from LN females (calf vigor score of 2.2 for HN and 3.3 for LN). Consequently, the level of nutrition during the third trimester of gestation can affect calving difficulty, calf vigor, and female weight.

Illdisciplined Gender Jacob Bull 2015-11-19 This volume offers some of the outputs, challenges and opportunities created in an interdisciplinary programme that was set up to engage multi-, inter- and transdisciplinary perspectives on issues at the intersections of nature and culture, sex and gender. When working with mass spectrometers, microscopes, discourse analysis or interviews, one rarely has to explain them to colleagues. They are the tools used. But when working in inter- or transdisciplinary settings, such tools require explanations. These conversations make evident that trans and interdisciplinary (gender) research is a not just a novelty requiring an adjectival prefix 'trans-' or 'inter-', it is something done, performed, practiced. Moreover it is something done in particular spaces, a consequence of particular meetings - transgressive encounters. This collection is built on work conducted under the GenNa: Nature/Culture and Transgressive Encounters Research Programme, funded by the Swedish research council. It brings together a range of scholars from the humanities, natural, physical, life, and social sciences by so doing it reflects on the challenges, risks and opportunities of doing trans- and interdisciplinary work. The result is a collection that uses a multitude of tools to examine issues such as sexual difference, hydro power exploitation, research seminars, dairy farming, the spaces between molecules, film and identity. They are witness to the diversity created through transgressive encounters and illustrations of doing inter- and transdisciplinary research.

Effects of Conventional Or Low Bull to Female Ratio and Utilization of Reproductive Tract Scores in Extensively-managed, Natural Mating Breeding Groups

Ryan James Rathmann 2007 The current study involved two experiments which were conducted at the Texas A & M Agricultural Research and Extension Center in Uvalde (semi-arid environment) from 2002 to 2004. In experiment one, Bonsmara bulls (n = 19; 20-24 mo of age) were joined with multiparous, crossbred females (n =586) for 90 d in 2003 and 2004. Bulls were allotted by selected physical traits, seminal traits, social rank, and serving capacity to one of two bull to female ratio (BFR) treatments: Conventional (1:21-1:29; n = 6 pastures) or Low (1:47-1:52; n = 2 pastures) BFR. Pregnancy rate (P = 0.33), calving rate (P = 0.26), and calving date (P = 0.22) did not differ between Conventional and Low BFR treatments. Post-breeding evaluation of bulls in 2002 (n = 16) indicated that social rank, but not seminal traits, was significantly correlated with pre-breeding values (P

Women and Bullfighting Sarah Pink 2020-07-13 This book

investigates the popularity and success of contemporary women performers in bullfighting culture, which has been framed by a discourse of 'traditionalist' masculinity. This examination of the changing situation of women in the bullfighting world is used to explore the ways in which gender is represented, enacted and negotiated in contemporary Spain. The bullfight in the 1990s is in an ambiguous position: it is a 'traditional' performance in a changing consumer society. In order to survive, it needs to adapt itself to a wider social context and, in particular, to international media coverage. It is in this context that the current success of women performers is located. However, women performers are a contested phenomenon in the bullfighting world: there is heated debate over their acceptability, much of which focuses on the body. Moreover, the entry of women into the bullfight questions existing definitions of the sport's ritual structure and of gender relations in Spain. Thoroughly researched and compelling to read, Women and Bullfighting addresses these issues and argues that existing traditionalist approaches to gender, bullfighting and ritual in Spain need to be revised in order to locate women bullfighters in the context of a richly varied culture which is increasingly affected by the media and contemporary patterns of consumption. This provocative book will be of interest to researchers and students of anthropology, gender studies, sociology, cultural studies, media studies and Spanish studies.

Bull Sharks Bite! Janey Levy 2020-07-15 If you saw the movie Jaws, you probably formed the opinion that great white sharks are to be feared above all others. Surprise! It turns out bull sharks were probably responsible for the attacks that inspired the book and movie. Many experts consider bull sharks to be the most dangerous of all sharks. Young readers will be thrilled by what they discover about this impressive animal that can thrive in both salt and fresh water environments. Striking, detailed photographs take readers right next to these sharks while an accessible narrative shares important life science concepts. A graphic organizer and fact boxes support the learning experience.

The Bull Terrier Series Book # 1 Deb Seale 2007-02 When Bullregard, a white Champion Bull Terrier, and his owner's young Yorkshire pig, Link disappears from the County Fair, the local Sheriff cannot find a clue to what happened. Mrs. Chubbley is heartbroken and turns to the LORD for comfort when the local Sheriff finds Bullregard's collar still buckled and intact. Jayne and Hazel, her close friends quickly join her to help solve the mystery. Fenton Parker her dog handler and her two female Bull Terriers come home from their show campaign. How can a dog and a pig just disappear? Fenton is determined he will find Bullregard! Will he find him before it's too late? The story and Bullregard's handsome handler intrigues a young female novelist/reporter. Bullregard ponders desperately how he and Link will find their way back home. A sow becomes a friend and Bullregard discovers that he has a lot in common with Yorkshire Swine. Deb Seale lives on a small farm in East Texas with her husband Kenny, two Bull Terriers, seven Paint Horses, four cats, a few ducks, and chickens. She feels privileged to be what God has called her to be: wife, woman, mother, and grandmother. Her gray mare and four cats are "rescued." She is now a freelance writer and speaker at local Churches, Women's, or Youth meetings. She has been involved at her local Church as a Ladies Leader and Speaker, Youth Leader, Choir Member, Soloist, and Young Adult Sunday School Teacher. She is a member of The Christian Writers Guild, her local Church, The Texas Gulf Coast Bull Terrier Club, and The American Paint Horse Association among others. This is her first youth novel about a dog and she is presently working on Book 2 in "The Bull Terrier Series" titled Bullregard and Mrs. Chubbley "The Good Samaritan Dog"

Estimates of Breeding Females & Adult Herd Size and Analyses of Demographics for the Bluenose-East Herd of Barren-ground Caribou

John Boulanger 2022 The estimates for the Bluenose-East herd in June 2021 were 12,863 (95%CI 10,816-15,298) breeding females, 13,991 (95%CI 11,805-16,585) adult females, and 23,202 (95%CI 19,247-20,822) adult caribou at least two years old. Estimates from 2018 were similar (not significantly different) at 11,675 (CI=9,971-13,670) breeding females, 13,988 (CI=12,042-16,249) adult females, and 19,294 caribou (95%CI=16,527-22,524) adult caribou at least two years old. The increase in estimated herd size was due to an increase in bulls as indicated by increasing fall bull-cow ratios; the adult female estimates indicated a stable population size. These estimates suggest that the herd stabilized between 2018 and 2021, in contrast to the rapid decline observed from 2010 to 2018. Demographic indicators (adult cow survival rates, proportions of breeding females, bull:cow ratios, and calf:cow ratios) showed generally improved trends from 2015 to 2018 when compared to 2018 to 2021, consistent with stabilization indicated by the similarities between estimates from 2018 and 2021 calving ground surveys. Integrated Population Model analyses also suggested that the apparent stability of the
