The Girl On The Train - A Comprehensive Summary Rachel July 5, 2013

Rachel is the “girl on the train” and she is riding home, looking out through window of the train, drinking gin and tonic from a can. She recalls her first holiday with Tom – the fishing villages, beaches and making love in the sand. The train often stops outside her favorite house, number fifteen. Rachel often sees a couple on their terrace and imagines them as Jason and Jess, “a perfect, golden couple.” They remind her of her past relationship with Tom. Tom now lives with Anna and their baby. Rachel stays with her friend, Cathy, who is a nice person. Nevertheless Rachel feels out of place. She is disturbed on days when she cannot catch a glimpse of Jess and Jason during her commute on the train. Tom calls Rachel later that night and tells her to stop bugging him. He tells her that Anna is upset with her calling him. Rachel never mentioned calling Tom, or maybe she’s forgotten it. To be continued... As World War II draws to a close, Jakób fights with the Polish resistance against the crushing forces of Germany and Russia. They intend to destroy a German troop transport, but Gretl's unscheduled train reaches the bomb first. Gretl is the only survivor. Though spared from the concentration camp, the orphaned German Jew finds herself lost in a country hostile to her people. When Jakób discovers her, guilt and fatherly compassion prompt him to take her in. For three years, the young man and little girl form a bond over the secrets they must hide from his Catholic family. But she can't stay with him forever. Jakób sends Gretl to South Africa, where German war orphans are promised bright futures with adoptive Protestant families—so long as Gretl's Jewish roots, Catholic education, and connections to communist Poland are never discovered. Separated by continents, politics, religion, language, and years, Jakób and Gretl will likely never see each other again.
