Making Movies K.D. West 2019-11-30 Sometimes, the best movies are the ones we make ourselves... Lauren usually loves her company's holiday bash. But last year, someone (definitely not Lauren's husband Ray, definitely not) left his boxers in the board room. And so this year, the invitation was very clear: no spouses, no boyfriends... no Ray. What's a girl to do? She heads home to ravish her husband, that's what. Only Lauren arrives home — amorous, tipsy, and ready to go — to find her husband and her best friend tucked into the living room... watching a holiday movie. What's a girl to do about that? Lauren's answer is to completely upstage the movie, much to her own, her husband's, and even her best friend's (vicarious) satisfaction! "Lauren!" Chandra tottered over, throwing her arms around Lauren. "You look as if you can't decide whether you're very hot or very cold." "Bout right," grunted Lauren, staring at her husband, who was licking his lips. "Also," mused Chandra, "you smell like you've had rather a lot of whiskey." "Have." Chandra led Lauren into her own living room. "Come along. We're watching a very confusing film." "Confusing?" Lauren looked over at her husband. He shrugged. "Party let out early?" Pouting again, she toddled over and plopped herself in his lap. "Wasn't as much fun without you." "I bet." She could feel the smirk in his kiss. (3500 word short story; steamy new adult M/F romance, exhibitionism/voyeurism)

Playing the Game M.Q. Barber 2020-04-11 The USA TODAY bestselling beginning to the NEIGHBORLY AFFECTION series. She expects dinner with neighbors—but gets sex with a side of safewords. Fantasies about her sexy neighbors spice up Alice's nights, even a year after she's moved in. She can't decide whether the men are roommates or partners, but either way, they spark a wanton desire in this mechanical engineer that has her imagination—and vibrator—working overtime. Henry, director of everything around him, studies human nature and applies philosophies to his paintings as well as his relationships. Quirky and polite to a fault, he follows his own code of honor even when it means denying himself. Charming and playful, Jay craves stability, guidance, and the chance to please others. His antics counterbalance Henry's formal ways and bring vulnerability and fun to the trio's adventures. BDSM play with the enigmatic artist and flirtatious joker across the hall allows Alice to quiet the too-logical mind that has kept her unsatisfied and distant with other lovers. She must reconsider her notions of love, submission, and independence if she's to find a permanent place in their bed and hearts. New to USA Today bestselling author M.Q. Barber's Neighborly Affection series? This friends-to-lovers bisexual menage romance saga is best read in order. Dominance and submission is the name of the game for this MMF poly triad. Start with Playing the Game or the prequel book Becoming His Master. For a different perspective on the events of Playing the Game, read it alongside Tuesdays with Jay and Other Stories. Praise for the USA Today bestselling series starter... "The writing is quick, smart and witty. The character development, especially of the heroine, and plot progression work well with this trio." - Shelly, reviewer for Red Hot Books "Ms. Barber delves into the culture of Dominance and submission with compelling grace, introducing us to Alice, Henry, and Jay and all of their delightful emotional and sexual complexities." - Sophia Jones, author of The Pharaoh and the Curator "It's steamy and sexy enough, and doesn't hold back on the BDSM angle, but this erotic romance has so much more to offer than titillation or fantasy." - D.B. Sieders, author of Red Shoes for Lab Blues "I will read this one again. The sex scenes were off the charts hot. The characters were amazing. Henry melted me." - Jessi Gage, author of Wishing for a Highlander "Chapter after chapter, I was captivated by the very real process of a woman that discovers her submissive self and how a man tamed her, day after day, week after week, month after month. ... It is the kind of book that make you think: yeah, that makes sense. If I was in her shoes, I would act like this.” – Mary, reviewer for Mary’s Menage Whispers “The writer had a way to bring you in and make you feel soulful about what they were sharing. I felt like I was made to consider each decision they made about what they needed and why they needed it. This wasn’t just a wham-bam book, it was a story of Alice’s emotions surrounding this couple she had grown to care for.” — Mistress L, reviewer for S&M’s Book Obsessions

Disgusting, Beautiful, Immoral Guy New York 2014-06-17 The way she begged me to tell her stories the first night we met might have been a hint. The fact that she didn't get angry when she walked in on me with another woman was probably a good indicator, too. But with Kelly, knowing what to expect was a dangerous pastime. We fell in love far too quickly for our own good, and we pushed through every horrible thing we could think to do to one another without looking back. Kelly and I fucked, laughed, and drank our way through the end of the millennium, and we pulled our friends along with us, breaking every rule we could find. It was the spring of 1999, and New York was still getting over her gritty phase as I got over my college phase. Prince was on the radio every five minutes, and the bars still had ashtrays on the tables. The girls danced on the bar at Doc Holidays, and we smoked joints in Tompkins Square Park. But in the end, we needed saving. In the end, all of us needed saving.

He's eager to help Cruz embrace his dominant side, and to explore the lines between pleasure and pain with Rachel. But can a fairy tale have a happily ever after for three people? Desperate to have her, Ash sends his best friend Embry to bring Greer to him, not knowing they have their own secrets, their own tragedies together. Their own cravings . . .
