61 Ways to Attract Women According to 61 Experts Joshua Strachan Want to become irresistible to women, a center of attention, and an object of desire? The ultimate goal for every man is to attract the woman he needs and the women he wants. The extent of a man's happiness depends solely on the kind of women he can attract daily. A woman is the only reason a man can change for good, take responsibilities, and be pushed to achieve things bigger than his own imagination. Women do not just add meaning to life; they create life, the life we all dream of. A man can never dream of a fabulous life in his future without including a woman or something that relates to women's existence. The men that choose to ignore this fact about the importance of women tend to become miserable in the end. Women are to be loved and cherished; this love becomes a strong emotion that keeps us on the definite radar. For the love of women, we become fools for love but always make the right decisions because, in the end, love is the only thing that matters. Success, riches, and wealth are the definitions of success that are often contemplated when it comes to attracting women.

Success defines you as a man; it makes you charming and powerful. Women love men with power, success, phenomenal demeanor, and care. How to keep the seduced? The charm to attract and keep women resides in the possession of few men. These men may not be physically attractive, but they possess a personality that makes every woman fall. They can attract your girlfriend and they know what they are doing. They know the right button to push to get any woman to bed. They take charge and know the right words to say and at the right moment to keep women coming back. These "supermen" are not familiar with the three magic words. They make women tell them, but they don't say it. They confuse women everywhere they go, although they keep one that takes care of them, these ones they love dearly. These men have not studied the laws of attraction; they've just discovered the ways to effectively keep women excited, to be suspicious and curious about their exceptional personalities. These men have found the essence of life because with these skills they also get the best jobs, influence the right people and accumulate more than enough money to keep them alive, comfortable, increasing their chances of getting the most beautiful women. Some of them have capitalized on these skills so well, they are now the wealthiest, and they control a lot of things that concern society. There is a power accumulated within themselves that makes them extremely influential without trying too hard to be. They seem light-hearted and easy-going, but in the end, accomplish the most complex goal. This book will be about everything you ever wanted, this attractive gem. Some of the ideas from these experts might seem extreme and controversial but they are practical; people like you have used them in simple ways and have achieved the life they want, attracting the women they want anywhere. To make women fight to have you, take advantage of this book and join the real alpha male train.

Inventing the Mathematician Sara N. Hottinger 2016-03-01 Considers how our ideas about mathematics shape our individual and cultural relationship to the field. Where and how do we, as a culture, get our ideas about mathematics and about who can engage with mathematical knowledge? Sara N. Hottinger uses a cultural studies approach to address how our ideas about mathematics shape our individual and cultural relationship to the field. She considers four locations in which representations of mathematics contribute to our cultural understanding of mathematics: mathematics textbooks, the history of mathematics, portraits of mathematicians, and the field of ethnomathematics. Hottinger examines how these discourses shape mathematical subjectivity by limiting the way some groups—including women and people of color—are able to see themselves as practitioners of math. Inventing the Mathematician provides a blueprint for how to engage in a deconstructive project, revealing the limited and problematic nature of the normative construction of mathematical subjectivity. Sara N. Hottinger is Professor of Women's and Gender Studies at Keene State College.

Caper Crush Kathy Strobos 2022-07-14 A feel-good, opposites-attract, slow-burn romantic comedy Somebody stole my painting! The one I need for the career-defining Vertex Art Exhibit. This upcoming art show is my chance to finally be recognized as an artist—after ten years of waitressing and being asked if I still have that “lovely painting hobby.” I have mere weeks to find my painting or lose my artist dream forever—but it’s going to mean working with William. William Haruki Matsumura. Good-looking, if you like the Secret Service type. You know, law-abiding, protector of women and children. That’s all fine, but I can never tell what he’s thinking. Which drives me crazy. He insists on coming along to do “damage control.” As if “accidentally” wandering into certain areas is “breaking and entering.” I may be an emotional artist, but William shouldn’t dismiss my investigative skills yet. William is definitely my opposite, and if there’s one takeaway from my parents’ divorce, it’s that opposites might attract, but it doesn’t last. But detecting with William is kind of fun—and fluttery. I definitely can’t trust these feelings, or can I? However this caper ends, I think this may be more than a crush. 2023 Independent Press Distinguished Favorite Award for Romantic Comedy Search Terms: romantic comedy, opposites attract, caper, romance mystery, adventure romance, New York City romance, forced proximity, interracial romance, first person romance, artist romance
