Falling Backwards Through Time. - Philip Warwick 2021-03-22

Little Horn - David Haneline 2018-12-16

The follow up to Vulture, Little Horn takes on religion and the social structures that bind and oppress us, challenging the reader to think for themselves, be creative, and take on the paradigms that hold them down.

Ivan and the Queen - Sabastian Weinstien 2020-01-12

Ivan is on his way to a mythological beast that tearing up the local township when he is attacked by barbarians as he goes up over a hill they stop on top of the rise with a uphill advantage then plummet his cart with spears and arrows Ivan instead of freezing up blasts his plasma canon and fires plasma bursts at them then turns the cart and uses it as cover the arrows and spears hit the cart and Ivan leaps up with one arms over the top then keeps firing when he is rushed by them they climb over the cart and run around it Ivan has to take out his axe then whack he hacks it into a barbarian about to slice him with a sword straight in the top of the head real quick extracting his axe just as quickly he uses it to block a barbarians axe the kicks him into the cart lunges at him then slices his throat a barbarian jumps from the cart onto Ivan with a club Ivan swings his axe around in the air and disarms him he uppercuts Ivan in the head Ivan dodges it then left hooks him axe in hand across the side of the head dropping him another one throws a spear at Ivan from the top of the cart he runs and throws the axe first splitting his forehead a archer points his bow and arrow at Ivan then goes to fire when Ivan reaches and grabs both his legs then heaves them out from him he falls backwards and smashes his head on the corner rail of the cart as Ivan tears him down Ivan knees him in the head as he is falling then kos him slumped between the cart and the ground Ivan stomps on his head holding the rails doing proper while bodies momentum stomps to crush his skull Ivan can see a knife on his belt and hear a barbarian running from behind him he grabs the knife then turns thrusting it into the barbarians face then kicking him away he falls backwards screaming as Ivan runs then leaps thru the air and kicks him onto the ground then treads the knife further thru his face killing him as it hits his brain Ivan is coat hangered by a barbarian and drops on the floor he quickly gets up the left hooks the barbarian then as he is falling backwards Ivan swings the strap around and catches the plasma canon on both arms aims with one then boom he blasts the barbarian Ivan turns around to see a barbarian jumping from the cart about to slice him with a sword Ivan dodges it and moves out of the way then kicks him as he is going past dropping him face first he drops his sword as he goes to pick it up Ivan kicks it away then kicks him in the head he falls on his face then Ivan grabs him by the neck and twists it he drops back face first on the ground then as a barbarian with a spear runs at Ivan Ivan swings the plasma strap around his arm then heaves it dislodging the spear then he left hooks him with a punch..

Some stories are hard to tell. During a period known as the Australian Wars, consideration of the national past was vexed, contested territory. There was marked vitriol - to an unprecedented extent - in public debate about the "reality" and interpretation of the events of colonisation. This study investigates the output of novelists who were brave enough to contribute to this vital cultural moment and the issues of politics and form they attempted to negotiate. This book deals with the publically-waged debate over the suitability of novelists to render authoritative versions of significant events or periods as its starting point. From there, however, it delves deeper into the politics of form, analysing the connection between the realist modes of traditional, empiricist histories and the various explorations of the colonial past that have been figured through different historical novels. The forms of these novels range from classic realism to frontier Gothic, various Romanticisms, magical realism, and reflexive post-modernism. The relative formal freedoms offered through historical novels, when compared to conventional history writing offer the chance to confront the past in all of its contradiction and complexity. The terrain of the postmodern and historical sublime - of loss and uncertainly - is one in which historical fiction can perform an important political and ethical role. The immeasurably vast space which lies beyond history, that space of those who are often unrepresented, often victims, often silent, is an abyss into which fiction, particularly historical fiction, is able imaginatively and ethically to descend.

Falling Backwards Into Mirrors - Anne Sorbie 2019-09-30

Falling Backwards Into Mirrors is a book that merges poetry and memoir. At the same time, it is a collection grounded in the body, naked and spare, wounded and wonderful. Through vivid, sensual images that evoke feeling, the speaker embraces the naked architecture of her own flesh and bones. In moments of give and take, this healing journey echoes the kind of deep explorations once undertaken by Adrienne Rich and Sylvia Plath. After a fall from a boat, water, distortions of light, and the blur of close reflection inspire the speaker to question the consistency of her own surface. She is hamstrung, literally and figuratively. She can't stand unsupported. She can't walk. She can't sit. While supine for long stretches of time, her mirror becomes a vehicle for metaphor, for seeing, for reflecting, and refracting. Falling Backwards into Mirrors begins with a sudden trauma and moves forward as the surface of the speaker's skin becomes like vellum, and landscape and love, family and community are grafted to hope.

Falling in Love Backwards - Diane Covington-Carter 2013-10

What if the pain and difficulties that arise in relationships are not something to run away from but, rather, are the keys to true intimacy and more personal freedom? What if the situations that arise when the honeymoon is over, offer the secret doorway to freedom, joy, and bliss? That secret doorway is what the authors of 'Falling in Love Backwards, an Unlikely Tale of Happily Ever After' discovered in their journey on the path of relationship together. They'd been on parallel paths in many ways, both traveling the world, looking for answers to the deep questions in life and for a true partner. They were each committed to freedom and to living awake, and had gone as far as they could go on their own. The rest of the healing would need to take place in the depths of an intimate relationship. Their relationship didn't start out with a fantasy love bubble; in fact, he wasn't that interested in her because she "didn't fit his pictures" of who his partner should be. But as they stood in the center of a real and alive connection, they took on the challenges that were there from the beginning, head on. In the process, they discovered a Happily Ever After better than they dreamed was possible. By sharing their story, they hope that you can too.

Falling Backwards - Jann Arden 2011-11-01

Jann Arden is funny. And sincere. She has legions of devoted fans. And a radio show. She is a darling of the music scene - always candid, always unplugged. You thought you knew Jann Arden, but there is more - to her readers' delight, in Falling Backwards Jann reveals her childhood, her bond with family, her struggle in the formative years and what keeps her so grounded in the whirlwind entertainment industry. Jann has always been true to herself, except for a minor lapse when she was young. Oh wait, wasn't that all of us? From the tender and honest to the laugh-out-loud funny, Jann's stories from home and from the road during her pre-celebrity years will take you to unexpected places, including high school parties in farmer's fields, sleepovers under the stars, hard-to-believe summer jobs and the time she was stuck upside down in a brick barbecue. She reminds us of the inestimable value to a child of having teachers who believe in you and wide open spaces to play. But with the good times come the bad (and not just the bad perm). Jann opens up about the darker side of her so-called prairie perfect nuclear family and the first signs that her eldest brother was a uniquely troubled young man. In the days when Jann was experiencing a lot of firsts - first school play, first home perm, first kiss - how lucky for all of us that she stole away to her basement and taught herself her first song on her mother's guitar. In addition to being an incredible musician and multi-award-winning lyricist, Jann is a natural writer and simply an inspiration. Jann will capture your heart - and keep you in stitches - with her powerful stories about coming of age as an artist and as a human being. Jann brings her wit and that infectious sparkle to everything she does. This book is no exception.

Falling\Backwards - John Gordon 2021-03-11

His second wife divorces him citing no reason. Boredom, another man? He never finds out. The company he works for folds. Taking a job in far away upstate New York. he rents an empty farmhouse on Coal Yard Road giving his only companion and loyal friend, his dog, a huge yard to run in. Winter and his new job are both harsh and endless. A seemingly random discovery forces him to examine his past soul-scared wounds. Starting with his early childhood and moving forward he comes to an honest reckoning of his independent self.

Falling Backwards - Gina Frangello 2004-05

Nineteen vivid and compelling stories explore the often charged and tender relationship between a daughter and her father. Life becomes complicated for Simon - a fundamentalist preacher and marriage guidance counsellor - when he realises in between adulterous affairs that he is, in fact, an atheist. From his dingy office in Kings Cross, from the pulpit, and from the beds of his lovers, Simon sorrowfully observes the hypocrisies and corruption of the worlds that he inhabits. And sometimes he embraces them. Raunchy and blasphemous, provocative and funny, Falling Backwards follows Simon from his flock at Sunday School to his ministry in the brothels of Kings Cross, and asks us to wonder whether Simon may not be something of a saint after all.

Lady Don't Fall Backwards - Darcy Sarto 2021-06-22

With New York in the clutches of a despicable typist dropper, only Johnny Oxford - the city's most fearless private investigator - can throw a searing, blistering spotlight on Manhattan's blackened streets. In this smashing story of gambling, gunmen and hoodlums, Darcy Sarto will thrill and excite you from start to finish. Inspired by the Hancock's Half Hour episode The Missing Page, this brand new work has been written with kind permission from the show's original writers and the BBC.
