Beautiful Bastard - Christina Lauren

2013-02-12

An ambitious intern. A perfectionist executive.

And a whole lot of name calling. Discover the story that garnered more than two million reads online. Whip-smart, hardworking, and on her way to an MBA, Chloe Mills has only one problem: her boss, Bennett Ryan. He's exacting, blunt, inconsiderate—and completely irresistible. A Beautiful Bastard. Bennett has returned to Chicago from France to take a vital role in his family's massive media business. He never expected that the assistant who'd been helping him from abroad was the gorgeous, innocently provocative—completely infuriating—creature he now has to see every day. Despite the rumors, he's never been one for a workplace hookup. But Chloe's so tempting he's willing to bend the rules—or outright smash them—if it means he can have her. All over the office As their appetites for one another increase to a breaking point, Bennett and Chloe must decide exactly what they're willing to lose in order to win each other. Originally only available online as The Office by tby789—and garnering over 2 million reads on fanfiction sites—Beautiful Bastard has been extensively updated for re-release.

Poems of Jules Laforgue - Jules Laforgue 1958

"Known primarily at one remove as an influence on later French poets and on such twentieth-century Americans as Hart Crane, Ezra Pound, and T.S. Eliot, Laforgue has not had the firsthand attention that he merits as the most revolutionary innovator of the Symbolist generation. The present bilingual edition, consisting of forty-one poems and the short verse-drama 'The Faerie Council', is intended to help remedy this situation. Poems have been selected from all of Laforgue's published volumes, and the majority of his important poetic works are represented. Patricia Terry's translations and notes should make Laforgue accessible to a far larger audience. Mrs. Terry's introduction combines biographical information with critical analysis and stresses Laforgue's rapidly evolving intentions and the corresponding changes in his style. The philosophical and emotional preoccupations with dominate the early poems gradually acquire the ironic façade which has come to be considered characteristically 'Laforguian', The latter free-verse poems are somewhat more personal in tone, and are best described in Laforgue's own phrase: psychology in dream form, inextricable symphonies with recurrent melodic phrases"--

French Food - Lawrence R. Schehr 2013-05-13
More than a book about food alone, French Food uses diet as a window into issues of nationality, literature, and culture in France and abroad. Outstanding contributors from cultural studies, literary criticism, performance studies, and the emerging field of food studies explore a wide range of food matters.

The Hélène Cixous Reader - Susan Sellers
2003-08-01

This is the first truly representative collection of texts by Helene Cixous. The substantial pieces range broadly across her entire oeuvre, and include essays, works of fiction, lectures and drama. Arranged helpfully in chronological order, the extracts span twenty years of intellectual thought and demonstrate clearly the development of one of the most creative and brilliant minds of the twentieth century. With a foreword by Jacques Derrida, a preface by Cixous herself, and first-class editorial material by Susan Sellers, The Helene Cixous Reader is destined to become a key text of feminist writing.

Katherine Mansfield - Gerri Kimber 2008
This book assesses the reason why Katherine Mansfield's reputation in France has always been greater than in England. It examines the ways in which the French reception of Mansfield has idealised her persona to the extent of crafting a hagiography. Mansfield is placed within the general literary context of her era, exploring French literary tendencies at the time and juxtaposing them with the main literary trends in England. The author determines the motives behind the French critics' desire to put Mansfield on a pedestal, discusses how the three years she spent on French soil influenced her writing and whether the translations of her work collude in the myth surrounding her personality. This book is the first sustained attempt to establish interconnections between her own French influences (literary and otherwise) and the myth-making of the French critics and translators. The book also follows the critical appraisal of Mansfield's life and work in France from her death up to the present day, by closely analysing the differing French critical responses. The author reveals how these various strands combine to create a legend which has little basis in fact, thereby demonstrating how reception and translation determine the importance of an author's reputation in the literary world.

Reading Kristeva - Kelly Oliver 1993-02-22
" . . . both an excellent introduction and a thoroughgoing analysis of Kristeva's writing."
—Signs "The book is a brilliant combination of a recuperative and a critical reading of Kristeva's work." —Changes: An International Journal of Psychology & Psychotherapy " . . . a thorough, detailed, and critical analysis of the writings of Julia Kristeva." —Elizabeth Grosz ". . . the most involved and engaging study of Julia Kristeva's work to date . . ." —The Year's Work in Critical and Cultural Theory This first full-scale feminist interpretation of Kristeva's work situates her within the context of French feminism. Oliver guides her readers through Kristeva's intellectual formation in linguistics, Freud, Lacan, and poetics. This comprehensive introduction to Kristeva makes accessible her important contributions to philosophy, linguistics, and psychoanalytic feminism.

A Compendium of Lacanian Terms - Huguette Glowinski 2001

Jacques Lacan (1901-81) was one of the most original and controversial thinkers of the post-war period. His ideas had a profound effect on the intellectual movements of his time and his work is of continuing importance to a wide range of disciplines: psychoanalytic theory and practice, literary criticism, critical social theory, linguistics, cinema, art criticism and political science. Lacan's ideas can, however, be notoriously difficult: convoluted, idiosyncratic, arcane, and almost always obscure! A Compendium of Lacanian Terms provides students of Lacan with a clear and helpful exposition on some 40 key terms. Each entry outlines the conceptualization of the idea, locating it within Lacanian discourse, and the evolution of the term within the development of Lacan's ideas. A list of references is provided at the end of each entry. The editors' brief essay-like descriptions of key Lacanian terms are a superb idea, much needed in both academic and clinical arenas of psychoanalytic world. - Choice - Jan 2002

Eight Men Speak - Oscar Ryan 2013-03-30

The first scholarly edition of the only play banned in Canada for political reasons.

Towards a Christian Tantra - John R. Dupuche
2009

How is it possible to reconcile two facts which seem irreconcilable, and an immersion in the world of Tantra even to the point of initiation? This intriguing account describes an usual spiritual journey which responds honestly and deeply to this mysterious experience, of spirit and body, of discernment and grace, of divine energy and love in all its aspects, during the course of an adventure which links a person to what is essential, unveiling the whole scope, both cosmic and divine, of Life. The author shows how, beyond their obvious differences, the Christian themes of the Word which is expressed as an eternal I am, or of the divine Energy, find striking correspondences in the Tantra, allowing them to resonate together and enrich each other. This work, therefore, follows in the wake of other pioneers such as Henri Le Saux or Christian de Cherg as regards the dialogue with Hinduism and Islam. Consciousness is the Self because God is Love. The essence of tantra is Love.

Three Steps on the Ladder of Writing -
Hélène Cixous 1993

Three Steps on the Ladder of Writing is a poetic, insightful, and ultimately moving exploration of 'the strange science of writing.' In a magnetic, irresistible narrative, Cixous reflects on the writing process and explores three distinct areas essential for 'great' writing: The School of the Dead--the notion that something or someone must die in order for good writing to be born; The School of Dreams--the crucial role dreams play in literary inspiration and output; and The School of Roots--the importance of depth in the 'nether realms' in all aspects of writing. Cixous's love of language and passion for the written word is evident on every page. Her emotive style draws heavily on the writers she most admires: the Brazilian novelist Clarice Lispector, the Russian poet Marina Tsvetaeva, the Austrian novelists Ingeborg Bachmann and Thomas Bernhard, Dostoyevsky and, most of all, Kafka.

relating to the physical, cultural, social, commercial and political environment, as well as exposure to commonly encountered technical terminology.

Sexuality and the Reading Encounter - Emma Wilson 1996

Can fictions of desire determine real pleasures?
Do texts regulate the performance of our sexual identities? In Sexuality and the Reading Encounter Emma Wilson offers a new account of the intimate relations between reading, identity, and identification. Interweaving theoretical debate with analysis of texts by Proust, Duras, Tournier, and Cixous, her study reveals the formative potential and transferential pleasures of the reading encounter. Drawing on an understanding of identity as performative, alienated and fictitious, this study argues that the fictions we read act as mirrors and decoys displaying seductive images of intelligible sexual identities. The texts chosen for discussion here draw attention to the strategies by which identity is constructed textually. They work thus to frame the reading encounter and to highlight its formative power. In analysis of these texts, this study works to cut across the axes of homosexuality and heterosexuality, offering an alternative focus on the interdependence of identity and fantasy.

The Shadow of Imana - Véronique Tadjo 2002

Along with nine other African Writers, Veronique Tadjo was invited to visit Rwanda to bear witness to the genocide that took place in 1994 - wiping out one million Tutsis and moderate Hutus during a hundred days of barbaric violence.

Enlightenment and Tantra - Bryan Lobo 2018

The articles in this volume of Documenta Missionalia are for that reader who is not just a curious learner of Tantrism and Christianity but who is also willing to allow the interaction of two religious worldviews to finally arrive at a unique realization and admiration of the ineffable mystery of God. Any reader interested in this theme would find in these articles great intellectual and spiritual depth that could eventually be highly profitable for one's academic and personal life. The authors of the articles in this volume, bearing in mind the perennial necessity of interreligious dialogue for mutual enrichment, have sought a comparative presentation of Tantric and Christian beliefs and practices like the Eucharist, divinization, mystical non-dualistic consciousness, male-female unity, Logos-Vac (Word) "inter-reading", freedom, fullness of joy, and corporeality. To our knowledge, such a diverse thematic presentation of Tantrism and Christianity in one single volume is the first of its kind to date

Risking who One is - Dillon Professor of the Civilization of France Professor of Comparative Literature Susan Rubin Suleiman 1994 Risking Who One Is shows how the process of self-recognition, even self-construction, in the reading of contemporary work can lead to larger considerations about culture and society - to the dimensions of historical awareness and collective action. The book gives us a new way of looking at issues that are as personal as they are prevalent in the writing, the criticism, and the life of our times.

Life Interpretation and the Sense of Illness within the Human Condition - Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka 2012-12-06

In medicine the understanding and interpretation of the complex reality of illness currently refers either to an organismic approach that focuses on the physical or to a 'holistic' approach that takes into account the patient's human sociocultural involvement. Yet as the papers of this collection show, the suffering human person refers ultimately to his/her existential sphere. Hence, praxis is supplemented by still other perspectives for valuation and interpretation: ethical, spiritual, and religious. Can medicine ignore these considerations or push them to the side as being subjective and arbitrary?

Phenomenology/philosophy-of-life recognizes all of the above approaches to be essential facets of the Human Condition (Tymieniecka). This approach holds that all the facets of the Human Condition have equal objectivity and legitimacy. It completes the accepted medical outlook and points the way toward a new 'medical humanism'.

Reading Dialogics - Lynne Pearce 1994

Dialogism means many things to many people, sometimes without reference to Bakhtin. Recognizing the broad use of the term, Lynne Pearce provides a comprehensive introduction to dialogism that combines an overview of Mikhail Bakhtin's major texts with an analysis of the way in which the term has been taken up, defined, and redefined by subsequent critics of widely varying theoretical and political hues. There is a particular focus on the way in which dialogics has proved especially attractive to theorists attempting to formulate new models of subjectivity and to feminists looking for ways to define the specificity of women's writing. The manner in which dialogism and its attendant concepts are used for a broad range of textual analysis is also explored. Discussion is supported by readings of six literary texts: Emily Bronte's Wuthering Heights, John Clare's 'asylum poem' Child Harold, Virginia Woolf's The Waves, Adrienne Rich's poetry collection Dream of a Common Language, and two recent 'classics' of feminist fiction, Jeanette Winterson's Sexing the Cherry and Toni Morrison's Beloved. These imaginative engagements of text and theory provide a full exploration of Bakhtin's key concepts: polyphony, heteroglossia, double-voiced discourse, carnival, chronotype - and consider how these terms may have to be expanded and redefined in order to accommodate the differing interests of the criticism in hand.
