Online dating is getting more popular these days thanks to social media and the introduction of the internet into our lives. Can a Christian date online and still be in God's will? We say you can! Sadly there are a lot of negative attitudes about online dating that cause singles to hide their profiles and date in secret. The enemy can use this secrecy to hurt us. God wants to be involved with every aspect of our lives and He will help us when dating online as well. So, let's talk about it openly. What does God have to say about Christian online dating? How should we prepare to meet our life partner? Which websites are fitting and what should we put on our profile? Then what should we do if it doesn't work out? Caroline and Tobias met using a Christian dating site. They made mistakes and learned a lot about the pitfalls of online dating. Now being married and leading Passion374, a parachurch ministry for Christian singles, they decided to put all they know about the subject into writing. Let their advice help you navigate and support you in this world of Christian online dating.

The Narrow Path - Napoleon Thompson Jr 2017-04-30

No one can deny that relationships are difficult at times to manage and many are prone to giving up, hence why there are more divorces than ever before (even within the Christian community). Author Napoleon Thompson is no stranger to this knowledge, engaged to his beloved girlfriend of ten years who he has weathered some storms with in their relationship. Having suffered Stage 1 PTSD from his time in the armed service, Napoleon understands that relationships can go through more trials when one or both of the partners are not in a good place emotionally. His experiences with his fiancée, coupled with dating and marriage advice from his grandparents (married fifty-five years), power the foundation for his new relationship advice book, The Narrow Path. Napoleon takes a step-by-step approach toward dating in his book: beginning first with the mental stance one should be in while pursuing others, and progressing into different types of relationships and typical issues to emerge with dating couples. He stresses most that a person should know him/herself first before entering into a relationship, coming to terms with how God created the person to be so he/she can be comfortable in one's own skin. Once the relationship begins, Napoleon then dissects common relationship issues that could damage the coupling of a man and woman: poor communication, forgiveness and commitment are among the discussed issues. He also devotes time to show the pros and cons of a long-distance relationship and a face-to-face relationship. What The Narrow Path wants readers to gain most is awareness of ways evil can surface in a relationship that is not firmly placed within God's loving hands. When one knows who he/she is in Christ, and has taken the time to know his/her partner as God does, a relationship can survive and thrive against any odds.
