Learning how to learn - Fabiana Raulino 2021-03-22

This book was written as a gift for educators. Each person is unique, needs to be valued and needs to find purpose in their journey. Education has a fundamental role in transforming this society that for so many years has taught us to be more and more selfish and separate, when we should creatively be searching for solutions together for the chronic problems in our world. This is a book that features the beautiful illustrations of Acacio Lima and the reflections of the educator Fabiana Raulino, seeking to bring affective memories and important insights into small changes that can make big differences in the learning process everywhere. You can gift your favorite educators with this book made especially for those who love education.

Learning disabilities screening and evaluation guide for low- and middle-income countries - Anne M. Hayes 2018-04-29

Learning disabilities are among the most common disabilities experienced in childhood and adulthood.

Although identifying learning disabilities in a school setting is a complex process, it is particularly challenging in low- and middle-income countries that lack the appropriate resources, tools, and supports. This guide provides an introduction to learning disabilities and describes the processes and practices that are necessary for the identification process. It also describes a phased approach that countries can use to assess their current screening and evaluation services, as well as determine the steps needed to develop, strengthen, and build systems that support students with learning disabilities. This guide also provides intervention recommendations that teachers and school administrators can implement at each phase of system development. Although this guide primarily addresses learning disabilities, the practices, processes, and systems described may be also used to improve the identification of other disabilities commonly encountered in schools.
