The teaching profession has a long history in motion pictures. As early as the late 19th century, films have portrayed educators of young children—including teachers, tutors, day care workers, nannies, governesses, and other related occupations—in a variety of roles within the cinematic classroom. This work provides a broad index of more than 800 films (both U.S. and foreign) which feature educators as primary characters. Organized alphabetically by title, each entry contains a short plot summary and many also include cast and crew details. A detailed subject index is also included.

Teaching, Learning, and Schooling in Film -

Daniel P. Liston 2014-12-05

Films about education provide many of the most popular interpretations of what teaching and learning mean in schools. An analysis of this medium reveals much about the historical, cultural, political, and philosophical dimensions of education. Timely and engaging, this book fills a gap for scholarly and informed public commentary on the portrayal of education in film, offering a wide range of conceptual and interpretive perspectives. Teaching, Learning, and Schooling in Film explores several key questions, including: What does it mean to be a good teacher? How do these good teachers instruct? When is and what makes teaching complex? What constitutes learning? Do educational reforms work? The book's interdisciplinary group of contributors answers these important questions in essays highlighting Hollywood, independent, and documentary films. Prospective and practicing teachers will engage with the thought-provoking educational issues raised in this book and gain insight into the complexities of teaching and learning portrayed in film.

Film Teaching Methodologies - DeHart, Jason D. 2022-11-11

Film has become a cultural staple across the world. As with literature, film can be used to inform, entertain, inspire critical thinking, educate, and more. As such, it is a useful tool to implement in the classrooms of all levels and subjects. It is essential to explore the implementation of film in classrooms and the multiple teaching methodologies surrounding it. Enhancing Education Through Multidisciplinary Film Teaching Methodologies provides strategies that emphasize close reading, analysis, curricular connections, and composing through film. It examines both the theory and practice that surrounds the use of film in K-12 and post-secondary classroom instruction from a multidisciplinary perspective. Covering topics such as critical cultural awareness, literacy education, and film pedagogies, this premier reference source is an essential resource for preservice teachers, teacher educators, faculty and administrators of both K-12 and higher education, librarians, researchers, and academicians.

Teaching Peace Through Popular Culture - Laura L. Finley 2015-03-01

Authored by scholars from a variety of disciplines, including English, Theology, Philosophy, Communications, Sociology, Humanities and Peace Studies, this edited volume provides detailed descriptions of the many ways popular culture can be used to teach peace. Chapters discuss documentary and feature film, music, television, literature and more, providing both educators and the general public with a timely and useful tool. From popular dystopian novels like The Hunger Games to feature films like The Matrix to modern rap and hip-hop music, contributors not only provide critical analysis of the violence in popular culture but also an assessment of how the same or alternate forms can be used by peace educators. Additionally, each chapter project synopses and teaching ideas, as well as recommended resources.

The Hollywood Curriculum - Mary M. Dalton 2010

"The Hollywood Curriculum is a sophisticated and thoughtful look at the portrayal of teachers in film and television in an exceptionally accessible way. Dalton draws on some of the most relevant and exciting theory to evaluate teacher films and demonstrates a masterful insight into the worlds of education and film studies. This book is a must-read for those interested in exploring the intersection of teaching, curriculum, film/television, and society, and is an outstanding contribution to the literature."-Alan S. Marcus, Associate Professor of Curriculum and Instruction, University of Connecticut; Author of Celluloid Blackboard: Teaching History with Film and Teaching History with Film: Strategies for Secondary Social Studies --Book Jacket.

Saving the Dark - Christopher Conlon 2014-05-26

Middle school teacher Mona Straw finds a connection to her eleven-year-old student, Connor Blue, through old films and movies. As their relationship becomes sexually intimate, Mona risks losing her family, her career, and her standing in the community. She justifies her actions yet slowly falls into madness.

Women in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium - Ya-chen Chen 2012-04-12

Women and Gender in Chinese Martial Arts Films of the New Millennium, by Ya-chen Chen, examines underexposed gender issues in more recent films, focusing on the contradictory feminism in the film narratives. Through the lens of Chinese martial arts films, Chen delves into "Chinese cinematic martial arts feminism," highlighting the glass ceiling which marks the maximal exercise of feminism which the patriarchal order is willing to accept.

Simply Better - Bryan Goodwin 2011

This book offers a practical framework for improving student achievement centered on the five essential practices that decades of research have shown work best in schools.

Teaching to Learn, Learning to Teach - Alan J. Singer 2013-07-24

Teaching to Learn, Learning to Teach uniquely addresses three problems that frequently concern pre-service and beginning teachers: classroom control, satisfying state and federal mandates, and figuring out exactly what is the role of the teacher. Integrating practical, theoretical, and critical teaching considerations, it presents a model student-centered approach for designing lessons, developing personal connections with students, and building classroom communities: PRO/CLASS Practices (Planning, Relationships, Organization, Community, Leadership, Assessment, Support, Struggle). Pre-service teachers are encouraged to reinterpret the principles and continually redefine them as they develop their own reflective practice. Changes in the Second Edition • Updates throughout with attention to the Common Core State Standards, high stakes testing, the possibilities and limitations of technology use in the classroom, and preparing for the job market • Fully revised chapter on literacy • New interviews with teachers • Companion Website: Supplemental planning, teaching, and assessment materials; 32 extended essays including a number of the author's widely read Huffington Post columns; interviews with beginning and veteran teachers; Ideas for Your Professional Portfolio, Resume, and Cover Letter; Recommended Websites for Teachers

Educators as First Responders - Deborah Offner 2022-12-29

Educators as First Responders is a comprehensive, hands-on guide to adolescent development and mental health for teachers and other educators of students in grades 6-12. Today's schools are at the forefront of supporting adolescents with increasingly complex, challenging psychosocial needs. Moreover, students are more likely to seek out a trusted teacher, advisor, or coach for support than to confide directly in a parent or even a school counselor. Succinct and accessible, this book provides tips and strategies that teachers, coaches, nurses, counselors, and other school professionals can put into immediate use with students in varying degrees of distress. These evidence-based practices and real-world classroom examples will help you understand the "whole student," a developing individual shaped not just by parental pressure or psychiatric diagnosis but by school and broader cultural and systemic forces.

Teachers, Teaching, and Media - 2019-06-24
Teachers, Teaching, and Media: Original Essays about Educators in Popular Culture is notable for its scope of previously underexamined genres and for the range of topical perspectives written in an accessible style but anchored in serious scholarship.

Transparency in Assessment – Exploring the Influence of Explicit Assessment Criteria -

Anders Jönsson 2019-04-03

In many schools and higher education institutions it has become common practice to share assessment criteria with students. Sometimes it is required for accountability purposes, at other times criteria are used as a means to communicate expectations to students. However, the idea that explicit assessment criteria should be shared with students has been contested. On the one hand, research has shown that explicit criteria may positively affect student performance, reduce their anxiety, as well as support students' use of self-regulated learning strategies. On the other hand, there are fears that explicit criteria may have a restraining influence on students' learning, as well as limiting their autonomy and creativity. There are also indications of students becoming more performance oriented, as opposed to learning oriented, when being provided with explicit assessment criteria. Taken together, it is not fully understood under which circumstances it is productive for student learning to share explicit assessment criteria, and under which circumstances it is not. In particular, empirical research on the proposed negative effects of sharing criteria with learners is limited and most fears voiced in the literature are based on individual experiences and anecdotal evidence. In this book, we therefore bring different perspectives on transparency in assessment together, in order to further our understanding of how students are influenced by the use of explicit assessment criteria. A deeper understanding of the influence of explicit assessment criteria on students' understanding of criteria, motivation, and learning is equally imperative for future research and educational practice, both of which need to go beyond individual opinions and convictions.

Cinematic Social Studies - William B. Russell

Action! Film is a common and powerful element in the social studies classroom and Cinematic Social Studies explores teaching and learning social studies with film. Teaching with film is a prominent teaching strategy utilized by many teachers on a regular basis. Cinematic Social Studies moves readers beyond the traditional perceptions of teaching film and explores the vast array of ideas and strategies related to teaching social studies with film. The contributing authors of this volume seek to explain, through an array of ideas and visions, what cinematic social studies can/should look like, while providing research and rationales for why teaching social studies with film is valuable and important. This volume includes twenty-four scholarly chapters discussing relevant topics of importance to cinematic social studies. The twenty four chapters are divided into three sections. This stellar collection of writings includes contributions from noteworthy scholars like Keith Barton, Wayne Journell, James Damico, Cynthia Tyson, and many more.

The Caring Teacher: Using Compassion to Connect with Kids - Timothy Michael Jones
2014-10-23

A teacher's manual that reads like a memoir. This is how Mr. Jones describes his new book "The Caring Teacher: Using compassion to connect with kids." After teaching children with special needs for nearly 30 years, Mr. Jones has concluded that the single greatest quality a successful and effective teacher needs is "CARE" Students will simply not give you their best efforts if they believe their teacher does not GENUINELY CARE about them. This may be one of the most comprehensive books ever written for teachers about how to incorporate CARE in classrooms. Mr. Jones has thoroughly examined virtually every aspect of CARE relative to education. In Parts I and II, Mr. Jones discusses 26 relevant and critical topics all teachers confront every day in the classroom. The reader will have over 30 handouts that Mr. Jones has created over his 30 year career for all teachers to start using so that CARE is being immersed in their classroom. In Part I, Mr. Jones looks at such issues as HOMEWORK, REWARDS, GRADING, DISCIPLINE and STATE EXAMS. In Part II, he examines TEACHING KIDS TO CARE, BEING EVALUATED (BY YOUR STUDENTS), MAINSTREAMING, INCLUSION, how PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT should be utilized, the importance of PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT, why PARENT CONFERENCES HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT and finally, a test teachers can take to see if they are a "PROFESSIONAL TEACHER." In Part III, Mr. Jones explores the "Ten Qualities" of a "Caring Teacher." Examples include "TREATING STUDENTS 'FAIR' NOT THE SAME (WHEN IT COMES TO DISCIPLINE), the importance of CONSISTENCY THROUGHOUT THE YEAR, BEING KIND TO EVERYONE (NOT JUST TO YOUR STUDENTS), having HIGH EXPECTATIONS FOR THEMSELVES (AS WELL AS THEIR STUDENTS) and realizing that CARE AND COMPASSION ARE THE TWO GREATEST QUALITIES NECESSARY TO CONNECT WITH KIDS. The "Caring Teacher" concludes with an Appendix containing seven important addendums including Mr. Jones' "30 Acts of Kindness," a test and scoring rubric to determine if you are a "Caring Teacher" as well as a test and a scoring rubric to see if your students CARE (about their education). Next, is a list of ten movies about "Caring Teachers." This is followed by the "Six Great Books" that show students of all ages the power and importance of compassion. The sixth supplement is the "Four Great Speeches" which Mr. Jones has his students memorize throughout the year to assess if his students CARE (about their education). It is so fitting and appropriate that the seventh and final document is an actual student's assignment which clearly "proves" that teachers do make a difference, although they may not know it at the time. What makes the "Caring Teacher" so enjoyable to read is how Mr. Jones weaves personal stories from both his students and his own life. Additionally, Mr. Jones references historical fictional characters including Jean Valjean (Les Miserables) and Atticus Finch (To Kill A Mockingbird), as well as current political figures such as Donald Rumsfeld (former Secretary of Defense) and four former Presidents. Other "newsmakers" include Ron Clark (Teacher of the Year, 2000) Anderson Cooper of CNN and even Late Night Comedian, Jimmy Kimmel.

Exploring Teachers in Fiction and Film - Melanie Shoffner 2016-03-31

This book about teachers as characters in popular media examines what can be learned from fictional teachers for the purposes of educating real teachers. Its aim is twofold: to examine the constructed figure of the teacher in film, television and text and to apply that examination in the context of teacher education. By exploring the teacher construct, readers are able to consider how popular fiction and film have influenced society's understandings and views of classroom teachers. Organized around four main themes—Identifying with the Teacher Image; Constructing the Teacher with Content; Imaging the Teacher as Savior; The Teacher Construct as Commentary—the chapters examine the complicated mixture of fact, stereotype and misrepresentation that create the image of the teacher in the public eye today. This examination, in turn, allows teacher educators to use popular culture as curriculum. Using the fictional teacher as a text, preservice—and practicing—teachers can examine positive and negative (and often misleading) representations of teachers in order to develop as teachers themselves.
