Things My Daughter Needs to Know - Dilvin Yasa 2012

The perfect book for mums who want to share with their daughters and for daughters who can't always share with their mums. By the time Dilvin Yasa left home, she'd already dated a string of bad men, fallen prey to countless fashion faux pas and suffered too many awkward sex talks with her parents. Determined that the next generation should learn from her experiences, she wrote a series of letters for her young daughter to read when she reaches the eve of adulthood - sharing the things that only a mother can teach her daughter. Things My Daughter Needs to Know is both an accessible parenting book and an edgy self-help guide for young women needing reliable info on picking the right bra, avoiding full-moon parties, tackling the dating game and flying the nest. Drawing on years of experience as a journalist for women's magazines and sharing - with admirable honesty - more than a few embarrassing stories from her own coming of age, Dilvin Yasa gives us frank, fearless and very funny advice on the sometimes painful, often joyful and always interesting journey into womanhood.

The Teen Code - Rhett Godfrey 2004-05-07

How is a parent to know what to say-and when and how to say it-when talking to teens about all those big, scary topics that are tough to discuss? In researching this book for the past 3 years, 17-year-old Rhett Godfrey interviewed hundreds of teenagers about how their parents talk to them about "the big stuff": sex, drugs, privacy, school problems, cigarettes and alcohol, divorce and remarriage and self-expression. Now Rhett reports back--in frank and surprising conversations--how teens really feel about these touchy subjects. What's more, he shares the best methods that parents have used to open up dialogue behind closed doors. Rhett's mother, #1 New York Times bestselling author Neale S. Godfrey (Money Doesn't Grow on Trees), then helps parents make sense out of what teens say they want from parents--from her own experience as well as from interviews with experts. In the first book to ever take us inside the teen mind to help us understand these topics their point of view, parents will discover how to establish an environment of honesty and open dialogue in their homes so they can better guide their kids through the rocky road of adolescence by understanding: - Why teenagers think oral sex isn't really sex and alcohol is not a drug. And how to convince them otherwise. - How to correct the most common mistake parents make in talking with their kids about drugs. Hint: It involves the phrase "You aren't doing drugs, are you?" - How to still be on good terms with your son after his mohawk grows out and piercings close.

Raising Teens Today - Ian Lambie 2010-07-01

Excellent advice for parenting teenagers from a highly experienced psychologist and a counsellor. Many parents feel anxious about coping with teenagers - it's not surprising given all the horror stories you hear. Other parents warn us of previously docile and compliant children who appear to have undergone personality changes and become more like mini psychopaths - turning sullen, rebellious and moody overnight. You hear reports of drugs, alcohol, violence, youth suicide, pregnancy, sexually transmitted diseases and road accidents regularly. Parenting teenagers brings a whole raft of new issues and challenges to every parent, and this book gives you practical ideas and information so you can face those challenges with confidence. Communication becomes more crucial than ever when dealing with teens and these authors are especially strong on family dynamics, building better relationships, sorting out your own issues and improving communication. They help you distinguish between normal and problem behaviours, give ways to avoid problems and negotiate difficult issues plus lots of practical ideas for dealing with common issues. On top of that, there's lots of encouragement for stressed or overwhelmed parents, advice about taking care of yourself and examples of success stories. The book includes great tips from teens themselves! Foreword by Andrew Becroft, New Zealand's Principal Youth Court Judge.

Kids in the Fast Lane - Yolanda Atkins Cotton 2022-07-22

Children today want to be footloose, fast, and free. As a result, many lack respect for their parents, teachers, authority figures, elders, and themselves. While parents are busy elsewhere, children have created lives of their own, looking to the internet, TV programs, peers, social media, and music for guidance. Their thinking becomes distorted. Life, they believe, will hand them a shortcut to instant success through sex, drugs, and attitude. They are heading down a road to destruction. The enemy—that old serpent Satan—is behind it all. He came to shake up the parents so he can manipulate the kids. Parents, it is time to pray. Kids in the Fast Lane: Drivin' Too Fast with Sex, Drugs, and Attitude was written to wake parents and kids up. We need to understand the enemy's tactics so that he will not destroy our children. In Proverbs 29:15, the Bible says, "the rod and reproof give wisdom; but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame." If parents make the time and effort to pray for guidance and correct and discipline their children, we may be able to keep the enemy at bay and raise up a generation who will serve God rather than the devil.
