CIA. With her specialized skill set, she's found a new home with Shadow Force International, but her current assignment may be the most challenging of her life—recruit her estranged husband to join SFI's spy division. She just has to remember not to shoot him first. Former Navy SEAL Aidan McNamara never intended to marry a smartass spy, much less the sexy agent provocateur he met in Vegas five years ago. Having been at the heart of Bree's last undercover op that nearly got them both killed, he knows better than to say yes to her request. But when has he ever denied her anything? As the two join forces to bring down a notorious spy ring inside the United States, will the passion simmering under the surface of their damaged love affair expose their deep cover mission? Or will they once more end up strange bedfellows—and adversaries—in a lethal game of covert ops? About the series: Shadow Force International: A group of former SEALs, abandoned by the United States and labeled as rogue operatives, now work as a black ops team performing private intelligence, security, and paramilitary missions for those who have nowhere else to turn. The Missing Handbook to Motherhood - Ms. Allana Pratt

2011-11-05

To me, motherhood is one of the most challenging and most rewarding adventures I've ever taken. One thing seems to be at the core of it all... when mama's happy, everybody's happy. Yet that's WAY easier said than done when the to-do list never ends, circumstances keep changing and we tend to put everyone else's needs before ours. When I've been empty inside, I didn't want to even go for a pedicure if it meant dealing with someone rolling their eyes or me feeling guilty for leaving my son. Even though I was exhausted, at least I felt valuable to be wanted. Yet I was crunchy and nagging when I was operating on fumes. So I learned how to navigate Mom Time, dissolve the guilt, fill up in ways that made me more playful, patient and present. My son started to behave better, I was no longer 'crunchy', I found my libido again and now I'm the sexiest I've ever been in my mid 40's. I used to be such a victim to circumstance, jealous of other moms who had help (husbands or hired help) and made excuses why I wasn't creating the life I loved. I share in this book how to clear away everything that's holding you back from having the self-confidence, juiciness, patience and joy that's your birthright as a woman... whether you're single or married. You are the seed and soul of your family. You are so potent and magnificent when you are 'full.' I will show you how to be overflowing with radiance (most of the time!), laugh when things fall apart, feel held when you are uncertain and be gloriously gracious for how well your kids thrive when YOU thrive. The truth is the best thing you could EVER do for your kids is to let them see a thriving woman of self-honor, confidence and courage. This gives them permission to live their best life too! And the worst thing we unconsciously do is give up our Light, then they think it's somehow their fault, and carry that burden into the world. Crème rises to the top, luscious woman!!! Lift you, lift your family, lift the world... with peace, power and pleasure being alive! This is just the beginning... for it does get better and better! If you put your oxygen mask on first. Deliciously, vulnerably and potently, Allana "My sensuality, my 'groove' wasn't really important to me and until now, I didn't give it much credence because I gave outside circumstances more importance than the inside stuff. People say I look softer. My husband who I've known for 16 years said, 'You haven't aged a bit, you're actually prettier. I don't know what you're doing sweetie, but keep doing it.' And my kids are somehow more cuddly. Thank you Allana." -Peggy Vegas Dreams - Cheryl Bradshaw 2016-10-01

- Cynthia A King 2022-09-21

Josephine Anderson has one heck of a marriage to clean up. It would be easier if she knew where Ray, her AWOL husband went but he didn't leave a forwarding address. She always imagined her retirement would involve a chaise lounge and a Pina Colada, but since Ray disappeared it sort of wrecked her vision. After giving him three wonderful kids and the best years of her life, he has the nerve to leave her now. While waiting for his return she makes some new friends.

Friends she might like more than Ray. She passes the time visiting Helen, an elderly woman with a son who kind of likes Josephine. It's at Helen's funeral where Ray shows up and causes a scene. Josephine has to decide what direction she wants her life to go from here. Her kids want her to reconcile and restore the family home. Ray wants his wife back. But nobody figures Josephine has a few wants of her own.

The Frederick Sisters Are Living the Dream - Jeannie Zusy 2023-10-17

Eleanor Oliphant Is Completely Fine meets Early Morning Riser with a dash of Where'd You Go, Bernadette in this "funny and insightful" (Real Simple) novel about one woman whose life is turned upside down when she becomes caregiver to her sister with special needs. Every family has its fault lines, and when Maggie gets a call from the ER in Maryland where her older sister lives, the cracks start to appear. Ginny, her sugar-loving and diabetic older sister with intellectual disabilities, has overdosed on strawberry Jell-O. Maggie knows Ginny really can't live on her own, so she brings her sister and her occasionally vicious dog to live near her in upstate New York. Their other sister, Betsy, is against the idea but as a professional surfer, she is conveniently thousands of miles away. Thus, Maggie's life as a caretaker begins. It will take all of her dark humor and patience, already spread thin after a separation, raising two boys, freelancing, an ex who just won't go away, and starting a dating life, to deal with Ginny's diapers, sugar addiction, porn habit, and refusal to cooperate. "The Frederick sisters will have you laughing out loud—often through tears—in this roller coaster ride of a novel that explores what it means to be family" (Tracey Lange, New York Times bestselling author).
