The Malay Woman in the Body Roziah Omar, 1994

Women And Culture Wazir Jahan Karim, 1992-10-15

Rural Malay Women in Tradition and Transition Heather Strange, 1981 Monograph on social change amongst rural women in Malaysia - based on a field study carried out in 1966, 1975 and 1979 in one village, describes historical background, government policy, political system, legal aspects, women's rights at the national level and trends in housing, etc., at the local level, childhood, marriage, family life, polygamy and divorce, old age, education of women, etc., and examines economic conditions, income generating activities, equal opportunity and division of labour. Bibliography pp. 246 to 258 and glossary.

Visible Women in East Coast Malay Society Ingrid Rudie, 1994 Change and continuity in gender relations in a rapidly developing society is the main theme of this book. The author has undertaken two periods of fieldwork in Kelantan, an Islamic stronghold in Malaysia, the first in 1965 and the second more than twenty years later. The purpose of the follow-up study was to investigate the change in gender relations especially concerning the women who, in 1965, owned, inherited, bought and sold land, dominated the bazaar market and held a firm grip on family economy and family politics. The book offers an important methodological and theoretical contribution to the study of gender relations and the construction of personhood in a complex and changing society.

Victorious Wives Mulaika Hijjas, 2011 In Victorious Wives, Mulaika Hijjas uses tools drawn from literary criticism and gender studies to look at a previously neglected corpus of Malay literature in a new light. The syair of the Riau Archipelago that are the basis of this book, six nineteenth-century Malay narrative poems, are a unique exception in that they allow access to women's imaginative worlds, and they provide a significant historical backdrop to anthropological accounts of gender in the Malay world in modern times.--P. [4] of cover.

Elite Malay Polygamy Miriam Koktvedgaard Zeitzen, 2018-09-14 Elite Malay women's polygamy narratives are multiple and varied, and their sentiments regarding the practice are conflicted, as they are often torn between personal and religious convictions. This volume explores the ways in which this increasingly prominent practice impacts Malay gender relations. As Muslims, elite Malay women may be forced to accept polygamy, but they mostly condemn it as women and wives, as it forces them to manage their lives and loves under the “threat” of polygamy from a husband able to marry another woman without their knowledge or consent; a husband that is married but available.

The Role and Status of Malay Women in Malaysia Rohana Raja Mamat (Raja.),1991

Feminism and the Women's Movement in Malaysia Maznah Mohamad,Cecilia Ng,tan beng Hui,2006-04-18

Combining both personal and academic insights into the Malaysian women’s movement, this study provides an in-depth account of the multiple struggles of the Malaysian women’s movement, from securing gender equality in a patriarchal society to achieving unity among members of a multi-ethnic society that are further divided along class and religious lines. Most historical versions of national struggles have created icons out of male figures. The authors of this book have provided a corrective to this. They detail the importance of the role of the women’s movement, led by numerous unsung personalities in promoting social change in Malaysia. The book centres on a crucial argument: that in the context of an ethnically fragmented post-colonial, authoritarian society, an autonomous woman movement, which began in the early eighties had actually achieved significant political success. However the study observes that by the late 1990s, feminist issues were also readily appropriated by the state and the market, and also suggests that the emergence of ‘market feminism’ poses specific challenges for the future of the Malaysian women’s movement. This thorough and engaging account of feminism and the women’s movement in Malaysia will capture the interest of scholars, policy makers and activists.

Women & Development in Malaysia Jamilah Ariffin,1992

Growing up Female in Multi-Ethnic Malaysia Cynthia Joseph,2014-08-21 This book provides a rich, detailed analysis of the experiences of young women growing up in post-colonial, rapidly modernizing Malaysia. It considers the impact of ethnicity, socio-economic status, and school experiences and achievement. It discusses the effects of Malaysia’s ethnic affirmative action programmes and of the country’s Islamisation. It sets out and compares the life trajectories of Malay, Indian and Chinese young women, making use of interview and questionnaire data gathered over a long period. It thereby depicts individuals’ transformations as they experience maturing into adulthood against a background of social and economic changes, and varying levels of inter-racial tension.

Women and Malay Voices Tineke Hellwig,2012 Women and Malay Voices examines Malay literature by Chinese peranakan authors in the Dutch East Indies between 1915 and 1940. The narratives, some of them based on sensational murder trials reported in the news, offer insights into women's lives and experiences and glimpses of female agency. With its primary focus on Malay texts and Asian women, this book offers a unique opportunity to hear subaltern voices and understand the lives of colonized women in new ways. Using feminist and postcolonial theories, this study juxtaposes the Malay texts with Dutch fiction and newspaper accounts to gain insight into how gender, race, and class are represented and what ideologies marked power relations in Dutch East Indies society.

Out of the Shadows Ruzy Suliza Hashim, 2003

Women of Malaysia Safiah Karim (Nik.), 1992

Malaysian Women Evelyn Hong, 1983 Essays on the impact of social change on the socio-economic role of women and the woman worker in Malaysia - examines the social status of rural women in the rural development process, labour force participation and working conditions; considers mental stress, behavioural problems and other aspects of occupational health; discusses hazardous use of medicine, sexual harassment and violence in the family and outside, etc. Photographs, references, statistical tables.

Life Experience of Professional Malay Woman who Have Not Married, 2012 In Malaysia, marriage patterns have changed dramatically and an increasing number of people have remained unmarried. The mean age of a first marriage among Malaysian women increased from 22 years in 1970 to 25 years in 2000 (Tey, 2007). The proportion of women who have not married among those aged 30-34 years increased from 6 percent in 1990 to 9.7 percent in 2000. according to western ideology of marriage and family, greater happiness and fulfilment is associated with being married people. However, there is much evidence substantiating the reality that mature single women are beginning to report more advantages to single status in terms of personal autonomy and growth than might have been true in the past. Surprisingly, despite the relatively high degree of research in this area in the west, there remains a lack of research on issues faced by single professional Malay Muslim women who have not married.

The Poetics of Indonesian and Malaysian Women's Writing Norhayati Ab. Rahman, 2016

Where Women Matter Rachel Samuel, Rohana Ariffin, 2021-12-09 A strong polity provides political freedom, education, economic and social opportunities, transparency and protective security for its people. Sen's capability theory, a social justice provider? Men and Women, are they likewise endowed? Are Papaty's, Rasammah's and Sundari's poverty, situational, generational, absolute, relative, urban or rural? Media rides rough shod feminism bullied and dress codes change. MAS won, AirAsia and the Government lost when Bea, Shima and Nor became pregnant. The law is an ass. Avoid debt traps lest lawful unions be set asunder. Billa distributes drugs, Donna does dud cheques while Vera gets pregnant before marriage. Read all this in the real life compilation of Malaysian women.

Spirits of Resistance and Capitalist Discipline, Second Edition Aihwa Ong, 2010-09-03 In the two decades since its original publication, Spirits of Resistance and Capitalist Discipline has become an ethnographic classic in the fields of anthropology, labor studies, and gender and globalization studies. Based on anthropological field work in an agricultural district in Selangor, Peninsular Malaysia, Spirits of Resistance captures a moment of profound transformation, illustrated by the disruptions, conflicts, and ambivalences in the lives of Malay women during the rapid industrialization associated with Malaysia's rise as a tiger economy. Aihwa Ong's nuanced approach to the Malay women factory workers' experiences of the contradictions of modern globalized capitalism has inspired subsequent generations of feminist ethnographers in their explorations of key questions of power, resistance, femininities, religious community, and social change. With a new critical introduction by anthropologist Carla Freeman, this new edition of Spirits of Resistance continues to offer an exemplary model of sophisticated analysis of culturally based resistance to the ideology, surveillance, and institutional authority of globalized corporate capitalism.

Positioning Women in Malaysia Cecilia NG, 2016-07-27 Cecilia Ng documents the changing position of women in Malaysia. It is divided in three sections, each of which correspond to a different theme. The first section focuses on the role of the state in agricultural modernisation and its impact on rural women and the gender division of labour; the second explores the relationship of technological innovation and changing employment patterns in the industrial and digital economy. The final section attempts to link feminist theory and practice as articulated in the nascent Malaysian women's movement, and discusses the relevance of feminist theories in explaining the experiences of women in the developing world.

Women and Party Politics in Peninsular Malaysia Virginia H. Dancz, 1987 The first comprehensive study of the involvement of Malay, Chinese, and Indian women in the politics of Malaysia, this volume traces the rise and growth of the major women's auxiliaries of various political parties and notes their contribution to the evolution of the political party system in Malaysia. Unearthing previously untapped historical information, Dancz examines the nature of women's participation within the party system and analyzes the reasons why women became active, the conditions under which these auxiliaries were formed, and the political and social constraints under which they operated.
