Writing Terror on the Bodies of Women Sarah England, 2018-08-15 Writing Terror on the Bodies of Women: Media Coverage of Violence against Women in Guatemala analyzes the scope and dynamics of violence against women in Guatemala and how it is represented in the print media. Using nearly two thousand Guatemalan newspaper reports covering murders and assaults on women, this book contextualizes violence against women within the history of violence in Guatemala; gender ideologies and patriarchal social structures; and the contemporary demands of the women's movement for social and legislative change. It shows that while some newspapers cover violence against women with investigative reports and editorials that use feminist analysis and language, these are overshadowed by the large number of individual reports that reproduce narratives of terror and conceal the gendered nature of violence against women by suggesting that "delinquents," "gangs," "unknown men," and inexplicably violent husbands are the main culprits, while simultaneously upholding dichotomous gendered narratives of "good" and "bad" wives and daughters.

Gravyland Stephen Parks, 2010-03-26 In Gravyland, Parks chronicles the history of an urban university writing program and its attempt to develop politically progressive literacy partnerships with the surrounding community while having to work within and against a traditional educational and cultural landscape. He details the experience of Temple University's New City Writing program from its beginning as a small institute with one program at a local public school to a multifaceted organization, supported by large multiyear grants and establishing partnerships across the diverse neighborhoods of Philadelphia. The author describes classrooms where the community takes a seat and becomes part of the conversation—a conversation that readers of Gravyland share through the inclusion of a selection of passages produced by community writers published by New City Community Press. While Parks celebrates classroom success in generating knowledge through dialogue with the larger community, he also highlights many of the obstacles the organizers of the New City Writing program faced. The author shows that writing alliances between universities and communities are possible, but they must take into account the institutional, economic, and political pressures that accompany such partnerships. Blending the theoretical and practical lessons learned, Parks elucidates New City Writing's effort to offer a new model of education, one in which the voice of the professor must share space with the voices of the community, and one in which students come to understand that the right to sit in a classroom is the result not just of nationalist war but of peaceful civil disobedience, of community struggles to gain self-recognition, and of collective efforts to seek social justice.

Una Luz en el Camino Eloisa Monroy Guzm N.,Eloisa Monroy Guzmán,2011-07 ¿Tenemos realmente un destino escrito o elegimos cómo queremos vivir? Pregunta formulada por el hombre desde el principio de los tiempos. María, Javier, Bryan, Stephania, Johan, Crystal, Katherine y Sebastián: ocho jóvenes que viven sus vidas de acuerdo a las circunstancias que les han tocado. Ocho vidas reunidas por un plan mucho más grande que las suyas y que se entrelazarán de manera casual para formar un club que los unirá por siempre. Esta es una historia conmovedora impregnada de dolor, tristeza y frustración ante la existencia que a cada quien le correspondió llevar, pero también es una historia de esperanza, alegría, amor y reconciliación, al encontrar en aquellos que llegan a sus vidas, el apoyo y la luz que necesitan para salir adelante. Llega un punto en nuestras vidas donde nos damos cuenta de quien importa, quien no, y quien siempre será importante. Cuando los problemas amenazan la amistad, y la oscuridad nos hace perder de vista lo que realmente importa... sigue adelante, y hallarás una luz en el camino.
