The Truth - Christina Jones

2016-09-22

There's no such thing as a right time to fall in love. It happens, or it doesn't. Possible to fake, but not force. Impossible to simply wish away. This is the path that hero and heroine find themselves on. Neither of them is quite ready to entertain the idea of dating, let alone love... but they can't seem to avoid each other either. He calls it "fate". She calls it "crazy". Maybe neither of them is wrong. When pretense is stripped away, and feelings - good, bad, and ugly - are laid bare, all they're left with is their truth. It's up to them to figure out what to do with it.

Reeva Mehta is thriving.
Consumed in her career as one of London's top divorce lawyers, she doesn't bat an eyelid when her mum calls to tell her that her dad is dead.
Because he's been dead since she was five . . . hasn't he? If finding out her dad was alive - until last week - wasn't bad enough, his last request was for his daughters to spend fourteen days in mourning at his house. Which means Reeva must spend a fortnight stuck with the people who betrayed her when she needed them the most - her sisters. Navigating her absent Bollywood megastar mother, newly dead father and scheming sisters with only a temperamental boyfriend - and even more temperamental cat - by her side, it's no wonder Reeva's hair is falling out.
Could confronting the truth

And not for the version of him who broke my heart, but for the version who was truly a knight in shining armor to the little girl I was, so many fairy tales ago.

When one impulsive, spur-of-the-moment kiss pulls her into a scorching affair with Henry, it could destroy her beloved newspaper, her career, and her independence.
