The Road to Love: San Diego - Mignon Mykel 2023-07-25

A collection of first in series stories from Mykel's Love In All Places world. Featuring: Interference As a hockey player who grew up with an AHL/NHL playing—then coaching—father, the game is in my blood. I've never been interested in being in the spotlight, but when the beautiful red head, Sydney Meadows, asks if she can cast me on a dating show, I find myself agreeing...but only so I can see her again. One Night Stand O'Gallaghers Pub in San Diego was passed down to me and my siblings when our parents decided they were ready to retire to the road. I've enjoyed the perks that come with being a bar owner and have always wrapped it up...but one night with a woman from my past brings a shock six months later. 32: Refuse to Lose A fighter on the ice, and a lover in the bed. Watching my best friend fall for his girl has me wishing I could find a woman who wanted more than a few nights with one of San Diego's hottest hockey players. When my buddy sets me up with his sister-in-law's sister, my gut reaction is she's too young—so I maybe had a foot-in-mouth moment, and she was sure to call me out on it when I offered to be her escape from the family party. Little did I know that "escape" would have me realizing she could be the very woman who keeps me on my toes. Drunk Girl I was putting in extra hours at O'Gallaghers because the new kid didn't show up, when a large party of women came in. Not out of the ordinary for a Thursday night. But when only two of the girls come back later, and one stays longer, I decide to keep my eye on her. Walking her home—and leaving her to the safety of her bedroom, alone—was just the good guy thing to do. So, imagine my surprise, when she shows up a few days later to return the favor. ...as well as a sneak peek from Free Bird! Welcome to San Diego!

The Road to Love Canal - Craig E. Colten 2010-06-28

The toxic legacy of Love Canal vividly brought the crisis in industrial waste disposal to public awareness across the United States and led to the passage of the Superfund legislation in 1980. To discover why disasters like Love Canal have occurred and whether they could have been averted with knowledge available to waste managers of the time, this book examines industrial waste disposal before the formation of the Environmental Protection Agency in 1970. Colten and Skinner build their study around three key questions. First, what was known before 1970 about the hazards of certain industrial wastes and their potential for causing public health problems? Second, what were the technical capabilities for treating or containing wastes during that time? And third, what factors other than technical knowledge guided the actions of waste managers before the enactment of explicit federal laws? The authors find that significant information about the hazards of industrial wastes existed before 1970. Their explanations of why this knowledge did not prevent the toxic legacy now facing us will be essential reading for environmental historians and lawyers, public health personnel, and concerned citizens.

The Slavery of Death - Richard Beck 2013-12-23

According to Hebrews, the Son of God appeared to "break the power of him who holds the power of death--that is, the devil--and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by their fear of death." What does it mean to be enslaved, all our lives, to the fear of death? And why is this fear described as "the power of the devil"? And most importantly, how are we--as individuals and as faith communities--to be set free from this slavery to death? In another creative interdisciplinary fusion, Richard Beck blends Eastern Orthodox perspectives, biblical text, existential psychology, and contemporary theology to describe our slavery to the fear of death, a slavery rooted in the basic anxieties of self-preservation and the neurotic anxieties at the root of our self-esteem. Driven by anxiety--enslaved to the fear of death--we are revealed to be morally and spiritually vulnerable as "the sting of death is sin." Beck argues that in the face of this predicament, resurrection is experienced as liberation from the slavery of death in the martyrological, eccentric, cruciform, and communal capacity to overcome fear in living fully and sacrificially for others.
