The Schematic Model of Human Behaviour - Calvin Motebang 2012-07-09

In this book, The Schematic Model of Human Behaviour, Dr. Motebang portrays his desire in the counselling ministry. He covers very crucial themes in counselling that concern all classes in society. For example, issues like fulfillment and wellness, rational emotive behaviours, cognitive behaviour therapy, self confrontation and ethical decision making and the paradox of aesthetics. He has used the illustration of human Behaviour as portrayed by William Green's (jr.) Johari's Window that has four quadrants. He concludes his book by identifying personal weaknesses and strategies to be employed for improvement. The Complexity of Our Relationships and the Paradox of Love - Calvin Motebang 2012-07-03

Dr. Calvin Motebang argues that as we live in a complex, busy, changing and very stressful world, counselling has become a buzzword of the day. Counseling is one of the effective means for developing human potential. Yet, counseling has been evolving slowly in developing countries. There are many different types of experiences that are difficult for people to cope with. Most of the time, we get on with life, but sometimes we are stopped in our tracks by an event or situation that we do not, at that moment, have the resources to sort out. In this book titled: The Complexity of Our Relationships and the Paradox of Love, Dr. Motebang discusses pertinent issues such as: exposure and awareness of the complexity of love and marriage, the difference between gender behaviours, the paradox of love, knowledge in the art of sex and romance. He concludes his book by looking at the roles and responsibilities in decision making and many other interesting fields in marital relationships.
