The Power of Abstinence -

Kristine M. Napier 1996
Now, for every parent concerned about the prevalence of teen sex, The Power of Abstinence offers practical guidance and powerful arguments for joining the new sexual revolution. The results of abstinence education programs are proving their effectiveness: Best Friends, based in Washington, D.C., has successfully reduced the teen pregnancy rate from 27 percent to 1 percent. Author Kristine Napier, a leading abstinence educator, is committed to helping teenagers stay healthy - physically, emotionally, and mentally, and has spent the past five years helping to expand a sensitive, plainspoken, effective program for schools. With her book in hand, parents will be able to empower their children to say "No" with confidence, develop responsible attitudes toward parenthood, and discover the rewards of waiting.

Multicultural Counseling with Teenage Fathers - Mark S. Kiselica 1995-08-03

An up-to-date and in-depth guide for dealing with teenage fathers, this volume provides a framework for responding to not only the general but also the culturally specific needs of any given unwed teen father. Offering perceptive solutions, the author significantly contributes to the existing literature on how to help teenage men who face unplanned, out-of-wedlock fatherhood by providing clear and concise guidance within the web of legal, family, and personal issues surrounding teenage fatherhood. The book examines the role of the teenage father's relationships - to his parents, his child, the mother of his child and her parents, and his peers - as they relate to his adjustment and changing worldview. While sensitive to cultural considerations, Mark S. Kiselica illuminates ways in which to encourage teenage fathers to take control of their lives and act responsibly regardless of cultural background.

Evidence-Based Policymaking -
Karen Bogenschneider
2011-01-11

This book is for those who believe that good government should be based on hard evidence, and that research and policy ought to go hand-in-hand. Unfortunately, no such bond exists. Rather, there is a substantial gap, some say chasm, between the production of knowledge and its utilization. Despite much contrary evidence, the authors propose there is a way of doing public policy in a more reflective manner, and that a hunger for evidence and objectivity does exist. The book is pragmatic, drawing on advice from some of the best and brightest informants from both the research and policy communities. In their own voices, researchers provide incisive analysis about how to bridge the research/policy divide, and policymakers provide insights about why they use research, what kind is most useful, where they seek it, and how they screen its quality. The book breaks through stereotypes about what policymakers are like, and provides an insiders' view of how the policy process really works. Readers will learn what knowledge, skills, approaches, and attitudes are needed to take research findings from the laboratory to lawmaking bodies, and how to evaluate one's success in doing so. The book's balance between theory and practice will appeal to students in graduate and upper-level undergraduate courses in family studies and family policy, educational policy, law, political science, public administration, public health, social work, and sociology. This book will also be of interest to researchers who want to bring their ideas into policy debate and to those who work with policymakers to advance an evidence-based policy agenda.
