Liminal Spaces: Migration and Women of the Guyanese Diaspora

Grace Aneiza Ali 2020-09-29 Liminal Spaces is an intimate exploration into the migration narratives of fifteen women of Guyanese heritage. It spans diverse inter-generational perspectives - from those who leave Guyana, and those who are left - and seven seminal decades of Guyana's history - from the 1950s to the present day - bringing the voices of women to the fore. The volume is conceived of as a visual exhibition on the page; a four-part journey navigating the contributors' essays and artworks, allowing the reader to trace the migration path of Guyanese women from their moment of departure, to their arrival on diasporic soils, to their reunion with Guyana. Eloquent and visually stunning, Liminal Spaces unpacks the global realities of migration, challenging and disrupting dominant narratives associated with Guyana, its colonial past, and its post-colonial present as a 'disappearing nation'. Multimodal in approach, the volume combines memoir, creative non-fiction, poetry, photography, art and curatorial essays to collectively examine the mutable notion of 'homeland', and grapple with ideas of place and accountability. This volume is a welcome contribution to the scholarly field of international migration, transnationalism, and diaspora, both in its creative methodological approach, and in its subject area - as one of the only studies published on Guyanese diaspora. It will be of great interest to those studying women and migration, and scholars and students of diaspora studies. Grace Aneiza Ali is a Curator and an Assistant Professor and Provost Fellow in the Department of Art & Public Policy, Tisch School of the Arts, New York University. Her curatorial research practice centers on socially engaged art practices, global contemporary art, and art of the Caribbean Diaspora, with a focus on her homeland Guyana.

We Simply Adore India Chöphel 2019-01-01 The government and the people of India welcomed us with open arms when we knocked at her door for sanctuary. India not only provided us refuge but also education to our children and helped us to stand on our feet. We have been living in India for the last six decades and in the process have accumulated a large number of debts to the government and people of India for their kind hospitality. If India had not granted us political asylum and wiped our tears, we would not have survived as we are surviving now. Words cannot express how grateful we are to the government and the people of India. India has provided us with all the necessary tools to safeguard our unique language, culture, history, and traditions and keep the spirit of Tibetan nationalism alive. No country has done as much as India has done for us. We rely on India like we rely on the sun. We have reasons to believe that India will stand by us like a rock and never let us down under the pressure of Beijing. We simply adore India. It is this message which we want to convey to the 1.35 billion people of India on the sixtieth year of our exile in India.

Learning to Love Raksha Pande 2021-03-19 Learning to Love moves beyond the media and policy stereotypes that conflate arranged marriages with forced marriages. Using in-depth interviews and participant observations, this book assembles a rich and diverse array of everyday marriage narratives and trajectories and highlights how considerations of romantic love are woven into traditional arranged marriage practices. It shows that far from being a homogeneous tradition, arranged marriages involve a variety of different matchmaking practices where each family tailors its own cut-and-paste version of British-Indian arranged marriages to suit modern identities and ambitions. Pande argues that instead of being wedded to traditions, people in the British-Indian diaspora have skillfully adapted and negotiated arranged marriage cultural norms to carve out an identity narrative that portrays them as "modern and progressive migrants"-ones who are changing with the times and cultivating transnational forms of belonging.

Galit ba sa akin si Sir David? Nag-sorry na naman ako, ah. Ang tindi. Mahirap kaya mag-sorry lalo pa at alam kong wala naman akong kasalanan sa kanya. "Ang yabang naman." Hala, 'di nga? Nasabi ko 'yun? Ako ba talaga 'yong nagsalita? "What did you say? Ako, mayabang?" irritable niyang tanong. Patay na. Ano'ng sasabihin ko?! Kailangan kong mag-isip nang mabuti. "No, didn't say that! Ang sabi ko lang may garlic ang pizza. Ba-wang," with fingers crossed, I replied, hoping that he'll buy my alibi. ooOoo Matawa, kiligin, at ma-inlove. Sino nga ba ang nararapat para Kay Maggie? The Lion and I Ariana S.K. 2012-01-17 Ahmad Shah Massoud, the most prominent leader of the Afghan Mujahedin since the 1980s, has been dubbed the Lion of Panjshir and has been considered a guerrilla genius for his successful tactics which were instrumental at expelling the Soviets out of Afghanistan. After their withdrawal and the ensuing civil war among the Mujahedin factions, Massoud maintained the last stronghold in the country against the advancing radical Taliban who had taken over the capital Kabul in 1996 and had taken over 90% of the country by 2001. Sebastian Junger - the author of the Perfect Storm visited Massoud at the frontlines in 2000 together with the internationally acclaimed photographer Reza. Junger had this to say about the commander: There was something about his face, the look in his eyes, his smile, the way he spoke, that made it clear we were in the presence of a very great man. This quote reflects the immediate impact Massoud had on me when I first watched a report about him in late 2003 and this resulted in the writing of this book. I can say without any reservation that there has never been anyone who has had a bigger impact on me. It was because of him that I went to Afghanistan for 5 years. This book is a fictional account but told against the backdrop of historic facts, actual persons and places of recent Afghan history. It sprung from a desperate heart unable to deal with the death of this incredible man whom I was unable to meet due to him being murdered on 9th September 2001, two days before the 9-11 attacks on New York. A murder committed by the same people Massoud had been battling for years.

The Girl from Sighet Hindi Rothbart 2009 The Girl from Sighet a memoir In 1944, Hindi Friedman's idyllic childhood in the Transylvanian Carpathian Mountains abruptly ended when German troops invaded her beloved hometown of Sighet. This memoir, written in the style of a novel, chronicles Hindi and her family's confinement in the town's ghetto, their transport in a suffocating cattlecar to Auschwitz, and the subsequent heroic struggle to survive the inhumane conditions of the concentration camp. After Russian soldiers liberated Hindi and her sister from a labor camp in the Czech Republic, the young girls immediately faced a harsh new reality. Their liberators were now the enemy. Weak and hungry, the girls escape by foot over the Czech mountains to avoid the savagery of the Russian soldiers. Two years after the war ended, Hindi was again on the run. Trapped in communist Romania, she escaped into Austria and eventually to her new home in America. This epic memoir spans seventy years, transporting the reader from shtetl life through war-torn Europe to the American suburbs of the fifties and on to the present, allowing us to partake in a remarkable journey from death and despair to hope and rebirth.

Music of Hindu Trinidad Helen Myers 1998 Like many other small towns in Trinidad, Felicity is populated almost entirely by East Indians. In their Caribbean exile, the residents of Felicity have created and recreated the music of their Hindu ancestors. Music of Hindu Trinidad is a fascinating account of the history and cultural significance of Hindu music that explores its symbolic, aesthetic, and psychological aspects while asking the larger question of how this music has contributed to the formation of identity in the midst of their great diaspora. Myers details the musical repertory of Felicity, which is based largely on north Indian genres including the traditional Bhojpuri folk songs and drumming styles brought by the first indentured laborers in 1845. In her engaging exploration of the fate of Indian classical music and new popular styles such as Hindi calypso, soca, and chutney, she even finds herself at the ancestral home of Trinidadian V. S. Naipaul in India. Copiously illustrated and accompanied by a compact disk, Music of Hindu Trinidad is a model ethnographic study.
